CRUISERS IN CHINA

H.M.S. Capetown, Captain D. A. Budgen, is due at Hong Kong today, on joining the China Squadron for duty at Hankow in place of the Caradoc. The other cruisers of the squadron, the Kent (flagship), Cornwall, Cumberland, and Suffolk, have been at the rest base at Wei-Hai-Wei for some weeks. The Berwick is refitting at Devonport, and when she is ready to return the Cumberland will come home.

DESTROYERS IN TYPHOON

The destroyers of the 8th Flotilla, China Station, which were caught in the typhoon while passing through the Inland Sea last week, are making a cruise in Japanese waters. They had been at the rest base at Wei-hai-wei for some weeks, and left there on September 15—the flotilla leader Keppel, Captain A. R. Hammick, with the Verity and Wild Swan, for Beppu, and the Whitehall and Wishart for Miyajima. Last Thursday they left those ports for Kobe, and it was while on passage there that the typhoon broke over them. They are to remain at Kobe until Saturday, and then leave for Keelung, where they should be from October 2 to 4.

COMMANDER OF THE EFFINGHAM

Commander G. F. Stevens-Quille, O.B.E., who has been appointed to the Effingham, Reserve Fleet flag-ship, to succeed Commander S. H. T. Arliss, has had a most varied experience, but has not yet been executive officer of a cruiser, as he will be in his new post. During the War he was midshipman of the battleships Glory and Royal Oak, and sub-lieutenant of the destroyer Ferret. After the War he was for a time on surveying duties, and was navigator of the minesweeper Sherborne, the submarine depot-ship Agamant, and submarine XI. In 1928 became first lieutenant of the destroyer Worcester, and in 1927-28 was in command of the Doon as Local Fishery Naval Officer, Irish Coast. He afterwards commanded the gunboats Teal and Falcon in China, where he gained his O.B.E., and he recently relinquished command of the destroyer Walker. Commander Arliss is to command the destroyer Delight in the Mediterranean.

NEW ZEALAND SQUADRON

The cruisers of the New Zealand Division, the Dunedin and Diomedes, the former flying the flag of Rear-Admiral F. Burgess Watson, D.S.O., will leave their base at Auckland today for a cruise to Australia, during which they will represent the Dominion at the Victoria centenary celebrations. They are due at Sydney from September 31 to October 8; at Hobart, Tasmania, from October 8 to 16, and at Melbourne from October 16 to November 7. Their arrival at Melbourne will coincide with that of the Duke of Gloucester in H.M.S. Sussex.

FLAG LIEUTENANT-COMMANDER

Lieutenant-Commander R. Hunter-Blair, D.S.O., is to take up duty today as Flag Lieutenant-Commander to Rear-Admiral Sir J. Hardman-Jones, O.B.E., Commanding Officer, Coast of Scotland, in succession to Lieutenant-Commander W. C. T. Eyre, who has held this post since July, 1931.

AT NANKINGPresident Wang's Address Of Welcome To Delegates

The ninth Congress of this Association was declared open by Mr. Wang Ching Wei, President of the Executive Yuan, on October 3.

In the evening a dinner in honour of the delegates and members of the Congress was given by President Wang Ching Wei in the spacious ball-room of the Examination Yuan. Over 400 scientists and delegates, with their wives, from all countries interested in diseases of the Far East, were represented at this notable gathering. The delegates appeared in formal dress with their decorations, which presented an impressive sight, and lent colour to the occasion. During the course of the dinner the Naval Band rendered appropriate selections.

President Wang, in a felicitous speech, welcomed the delegates to this country on behalf of the National Government. Lt. Col. A. J. H. Russell, Public Health Commissioner for the Government of India, replied on behalf of the delegates.

The Congress held its first scientific session on the morning of October 4. For the sake of convenience the 200 odd papers were classified for presentation in the following sections:—Medicine, Surgery, Obstetrics, Pathology, Plague, Cholera, Public Health, etc.

Among the papers read the ones on the mode of transmission of Kala-azar aroused great interest and provoked lively discussion.

Kala-azar

Kala-azar is an infective and very fatal disease, endemic in the Mediterranean basin, in certain belts in the eastern provinces of India and in China north of the Yangtze Kiang, including Southern Manchuria. Like all diseases of this nature it flares up periodically in epidemics which take toll of lives among the rural population. In China the deadly spreading edge is at present along the northern bank of the Yangtze Kiang will the plague cross the mighty river barrier? That is the question and, with the answer, the question of the modes of transmission is involved. Curiously enough, though the aetiology of the disease has been known since 1903, through the discovery of two Britishers—Leishman and Donovan, how the disease is spread is not known with certainty. Two views have been advanced—one, by direct contact, and the other, through the intermediary of a biting insect. Most of the investigators favour the latter view, which was represented at this congress by the famous Indian worker Dr. Napier of Calcutta. The former received further support through the discovery of the two researchers, Drs. Forner and Zia of Peiping Union Medical College, that the agent is present in the secretions of the nose and throat of those infected. Evidence on both sides is strong, but only further researches will solve the question because it is only with its solution that the disease could be effectively controlled.

The notable contribution on the study of this disease was the discovery in this country of a susceptible animal, the Chinese field mouse, which has been shipped to all parts of the world for use in experimental study of this disease. Plague and Cholera.

The papers presented at this session were very illuminating, and showed the enormous strides that have been made in efforts to suppress these scourges, both in India and China, during the past 10-12 years. Col. Russell of India dealt with both plague and cholera in that country and emphasised the value of anti-plague and anti-cholera vaccines, stating that they found the use of 8 thousand million organisms per c.c. the most effective in producing a high degree of immunity from cholera.

Dr. Wu Lien Teh, dealing with plague, said that plague had usually followed the maritime routes in its passage through China, thereby emphasising the fact that the ordinary domestic rat was the most frequent carrier of plague.

Dr. C. Y. Wu, in his discourse, showed that a rat-flea survey throughout China was being carried out on an extensive scale in an endeavour to anticipate any impending outbreak of plague and displayed several excellent charts to amplify his points. He showed from his figures that the spread of bubonic plague in Shanghai was unlikely owing to the rarity of the responsible vector, (the Xenopsylla cheopis)—only 5 per cent. of all fleas caught—and the fact that the cheopis season did not correspond with the plague season in the endemic areas in South China.

Drs. Pandit, Chun, Pollitzer and Yang contributed useful data on the subject of cholera, its sources and the means used in its suppression.

PRESIDENT WANG

In welcoming the delegates to the Congress, President Wang Ching-wei said:—

Ladies and Gentlemen: It is a great pleasure for me to bid you once more a most hearty welcome. I am fully aware that the work you are doing here is not supposed to be for the exclusive benefit of any particular country, but for the welfare of all mankind. But the mere fact that the Ninth Congress of your Association is taking place in the Capital of this country cannot help furnishing a new stimulus to our medical and health experts in their studies of medicine and, what is more, cannot help creating a deeper impression on the mind of the Chinese people regarding the great importance of medical science, particularly that of tropical medicine. Thus your presence in Nanking has brought to Nanking a special boon—for which I feel very grateful.

Now, in addition to my gratitude, I think I owe you also an apology. You will perhaps remember that it was only in 1923 that Nanking was again chosen as the Capital of China. Since then roads have been built, buildings erected, parks brought into existence—in short, thousand and one improvements have been made in the development of this city. All this is true. But in spite of it all so much is still left undone and we cannot boast with any sense of justice that Nanking is already a modern metropolis. This being the case, many must be the discomforts and inconveniences which you will have to suffer during your brief sojourn in this country—for which I, as Patron of this Congress of your Association and as host this evening, offer you my apology. I hope that in the future when members of the Congress meet here again, such discomforts and inconveniences will have disappeared.

In conclusion, I wish to repeat, if I may, what I said this afternoon on the opening of the present Congress: May your deliberations be crowned with success! And in spite of all inconveniences that you may suffer, I sincerely hope that your sojourn in this country will be a fairly happy one!

LT.-COL. RUSSELL

In response to the speech of welcome by H.E. President Wang Ching-wei, Lieut.-Colonel A. J. H. Russell, C.B.E., I.M.S., Public Health Commissioner and official delegate of the Government of India replied on behalf of the foreign guests including those from British India and Malaya, Hong Kong, Indo-China, Japan, the Dutch East Indies, the Philippine Islands, and the United States. He said in part:—

The story of medicine in China, as in India, began in the hoary past and her medical art was apparently well founded as early as 206 B.C. The founders were rulers and statesmen, whilst both philosophers and priests added their quota. Ancient Chinese medical literature is large and of great historical importance, whilst much of it is certain to be of interest and value to scientific research workers. Apparently, however, in ancient days medicine was not considered a profession of very high standing for I find an old Chinese proverb which states that "medicine is one of the nine low trades." I would like to know what the other eight were!

Modern Science. I cannot refrain from making special mention of the National Quarantine Service, at the head of which is my old friend, Dr. Wu Lien-teh. His new quarantine station now nearly finished "at Woosung" is one of the best planned and most complete stations of its kind I have seen anywhere. I would also like to mention the energy, organising capacity and

LINKING UP
LONDON

And The Highlands

(Special Air Mail Service)

London, Sept. 22.

The linking up of London and the Highlands by a regular coastal air service which will overcome the difficulties of winter flying over the Gramplains has been made a practical possibility by a week's tour of the principal cities and towns on the East Coast which Captain Duncan Sinclair, of the British Aviation Corporation, concluded at Elgin yesterday.

The Corporation's aim is to secure the establishment of a chain of municipal aerodromes, and in this connection Captain Sinclair has been in negotiation on his way north during the last few days with the civic authorities at Hull, Newcastle, Edinburgh, and Dundee.

His mission at Elgin, which is to be the vital Highland link in the service, was to advise Moray and Nairn County Council and Elgin and Lossiemouth Town Councils on the construction of an airport, and after a series of prospecting flights over the district he finally selected a site which is composed chiefly of town land, and can be extended at small cost.

With a view to securing the co-operation of Highland Airways, Ltd., who pioneered the air service now running between Inverness and the Orkneys, he flew on Saturday to Inverness accompanied by Mr. A. G. Cockburn, the town clerk of Elgin. They were met at Inverness airport by Captain Fresson, the managing director of Highland Airways, and the whole question of completing the opening up of the Highlands to civilian flying was thoroughly explored.

Captain Sinclair left Elgin by aeroplane yesterday for Carlisle, where he begins to-day another series of consultations with civic authorities along the route from that city to London.

WE ENGLISHMEN
And Those Scotsmen

(Special Air Mail Service)

Edinburgh, Sept. 22.

Mr. Anthony Eden, Britain's envoy to the League of Nations, had something to say to his foreign colleagues to-day about the difference between Englishmen and Scotsmen.

He was discussing Poland's refusal to have any more League control over her minority population unless all other nations with minorities were put on the same footing.

It was difficult to do that, said Mr. Eden, and he quoted the case of Britain.

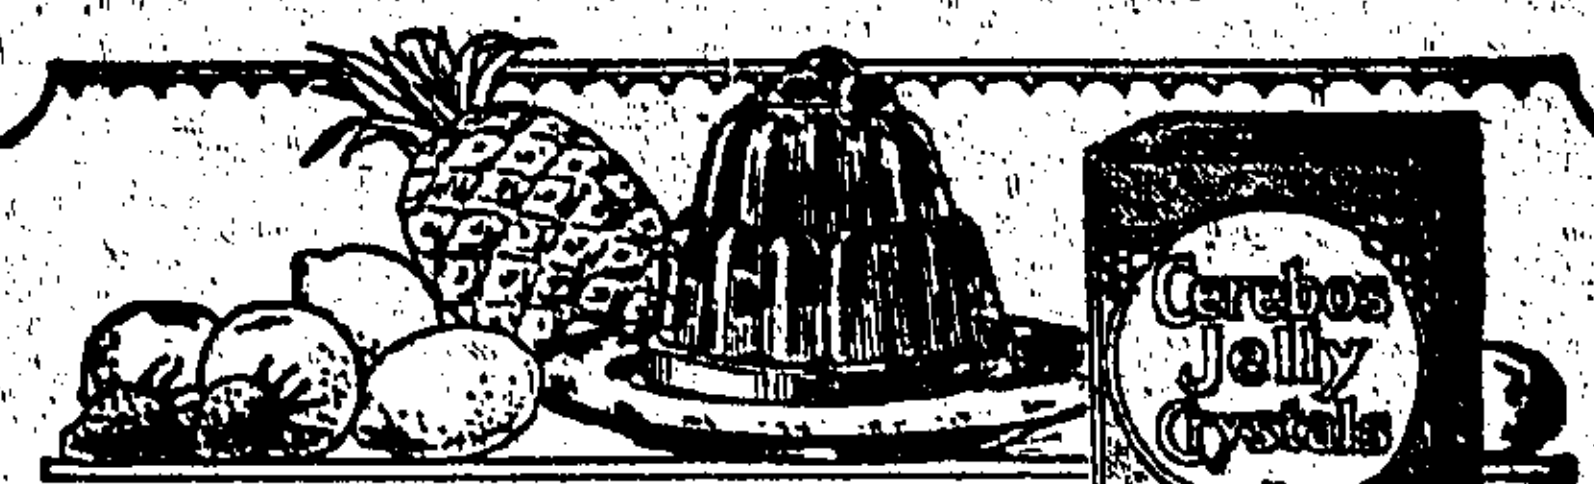

"It would be hard to say which was the minority and which the majority in Britain."

"I suppose that the English are more numerous than the Scots. But I pity the Englishman who would dare to suggest to a Scotsman that he is one of a slighted or neglected minority."

As for the Jews: "One of the criterions by which every country must expect to be judged is the treatment it metes out to every race and religion."

skill of Dr. Ting-an Lee, Health Commissioner of Greater Shanghai, as well as the great work being done in Nanking itself, both at the Field Station and by the Central Government Hospital. King Solomon, reputed to be the wisest of men, many centuries ago uttered a stern warning in the words "Where there is no vision, the people perish." I can only say that the modern Chinese medical and public health services have vision, and if they have their way, the people will no longer perish. On behalf of my fellow delegates I would convey to you, Sir, our hearty congratulations on the progress already made and our best wishes for the successful completion of the plans made for the future.

I desire to assure your Excellency that we are all delighted to be present at this Congress, that we are all looking forward to a profitable and pleasurable week's work—and play—and that we shall all take away with us many pleasant memories of our stay in Nanking, not the least pleasant being the gracious welcome which you have given us this evening. In the name of the whole body of foreign delegates I have to thank you most cordially.

Assassin's Outrage At Marseilles

(Special to the "Hong Kong Daily Press" (Copyright).)

Marseilles, Oct. 9.

King Alexander of Yugo-Slavia was shot dead on Tuesday afternoon shortly after landing on French soil. The French Foreign Minister, M. Barthou, who was at the King's side was also fatally wounded. A short ceremonial welcome was extended to the Royal guest on arrival at 4.05 p.m.

French time, after which King Alexander and M. Barthou went on a motor car intending to call on the Prefecture of Police before continuing their voyage to Paris where King Alexander was to pay a State visit to President Lebrun.

Just as the car was passing the Bourse, about fifty yards from the quay at exactly 4.10, six to eight shots were fired in quick succession from the midst of a dense throng of spectators. Three shots took effect, hitting the breast and head of the King who instantly lost consciousness. Barthou who seemed to be unaware of himself having been hit sprang to the King's assistance, unbuttoning the tunic and loosening the shirt when blood was seen spurting from the chest wound.

Panic seized the crowd but the cavalry drove the frenzied masses asunder making the roadway clear for the car to proceed to the Prefecture where the King was at once attended to by physicians. All efforts to save the Royal patient proved unavailing, the King passing away shortly after.

Meanwhile it has been discovered that Barthou's wounds which at first were thought to be only casual were serious. Despite the united endeavours of the medical attendants, the Foreign Minister also passed away at 5.40 p.m.

The police declare that ten persons must have co-operated in organising and carrying out the atrocity.

ARM AMPUTATED

Paris, Oct. 9.

When he was first sent to hospital it was thought that Barthou's injuries were not serious but the lower part of the left arm had to be amputated because it was shattered by the assassin's bullets. During the operation, violent haemorrhage set in and blood transfusion was undertaken immediately but Barthou's heart beat grew continually weaker, death ensuing.

BERLIN SYMPATHY

Berlin, Oct. 9.

As soon as the news of the death of M. Barthou was received, the Chief of the Presidential Chancellery, State-Secretary Meisner called on the French Ambassador, His Excellency Francois Poincaré to convey an expression of profound sympathy on behalf of the Fuehrer and Reichschancellor.

THE ASSASSIN

Paris, Oct. 9.

It has been ascertained that the perpetrator of the fatal atrocity on King Alexander is Petrus Kalamen who was born in Agrim on December 20, 1899, and a shopkeeper by occupation. His passport was made out on May 30, 1934 and Kalamen arrived in France on September 28.

FURTHER VICTIMS

Paris, Oct. 9.

Further victims of Tuesday's atrocity are the Yugo-Slavian General, Dimitrimitch, dead, and seriously wounded the French General, Georges, and Admiral Barthelot.

PROFOUND REGRET

Berlin, Oct. 9.

The news of the assassination of King Alexander of Yugo-Slavia filled all Germany with consternation. Profound regret at the dastardly crime is also felt in the case of Barthou, news of whose death reached Berlin somewhat later in the evening after special editions of newspapers were already on the streets.

This atrocity is described as an "attack on the peace of Europe." All papers so far appeared to emphasise in short leading articles that the murdered King not only made extraordinary efforts to preserve order and peace in his own country but also worked unceasingly abroad to promote understanding among nations.

YUGOSLAVIA'S LOSS

Berlin, Oct. 9.

Immediately after the receipt of news of the outrage at Marseilles, the Fuehrer deputed the State-Secretary, Dr. Meisner, the Chief of the Presidential Chancellery, to call on the Yugo-Slavian Minister, His Excellency Baludzie, to convey his profound grief and sincere sympathy for the irreparable loss Yugo-Slavia has suffered through the death of its King.

HITLER'S TELEGRAM

Berlin, Oct. 9.

Hitler has sent the following telegram of sympathy to the President of the French Republic: "The news that the French Foreign Minister, M. Barthou, has also succumbed to his injuries received in the crime in Marseilles, has just reached me. I desire to convey to your Excellency my own sincere sympathy and that of the whole of the German people."

SYMPATHY WITH QUEEN

Berlin, Oct. 9.

Chancellor Hitler has telegraphed to the Queen of Yugo-Slavia the following telegram: "I am profoundly shaken by the news of the outrage to which His Majesty the King has fallen a victim. I ask your Majesty to accept an expression of my most sincere sympathy and that of the whole of the German people."

THERE IS THE SHADOW OF A MAN BEHIND EVERY WOMAN

His is the task to earn the family bread. Hers to bake it. Neither can work alone. So the home-maker goes about her duties with the knowledge that someone to whom she owes her best efforts depends upon her skill. Tired and in need of his dinner, the breadwinner comes home. What is more gratifying than home-cooked food, especially home-made breads or a feathery cake.

BUT how is the housewife to achieve all this? Not every cook-boy is a baker too, and it is her lot to prepare the special dishes. Simpson's Self-Raising Flour is the answer to all her questions. Quick... easy to use... risks eliminated. Most important of all... no time wasted in measuring and mixing. And no chance of a mistake.

No wonder our home-maker smiles as she reaches for the package of Simpson's. She knows how to please that Shadow that is always near her!

Mustard Sauce For Prawns

No one need fear to eat fresh prawns if they are served with a good mustard sauce. Try this recipe as a substitute for mayonnaise:—

Mix a tablespoonful of mustard with a tablespoonful of vinegar in a bowl.

Beat up the yolks of 2 eggs in another bowl, adding three finely minced curry onions and one teaspoonful of minced parsley.

Add to the egg-bowl four teaspoonfuls of salad oil, drop by drop, then add the mustard and vinegar. A few chopped gherkins can be added, if obtainable.

OMELETS

The great all-meal dish, that's the omelet. For breakfast, luncheon, dinner and mid-night supper, there's always old faithful.

You must watch one thing, though. It ought to be served immediately. It loses its golden fluffiness quickly if it stands. Turn it quickly onto a hot, buttered platter and eat at once.

Plain Omelet

Allow one egg for each person to be served and an extra egg for the pan. For each egg use 1 tablespoon hot water. Separate yolks and whites of eggs. Season yolks with salt and pepper and beat well, gradually beating in water. Beat whites until stiff and fold the yolks into the whites. Pour into a hot, well-buttered omelet pan or a heavy frying pan and cook slowly until the underside is lightly browned. Then put the pan in a slow oven, 350 degrees F. and bake until the omelet is firm to the touch.

To fold make a cut with a spatula at right angles to the handle of the pan and about two-thirds down from the handle. Be sure not to cut more than half-way through the mixture. Tip the pan, slide spatula under omelet and fold it over as you slide it onto the hot platter.

Chicken Omelet: Before folding omelet, cover with a thick layer of diced cooked in a rich cream sauce. This is splendid for a chicken breakfast or 'brunch' so satisfactory for summer entertaining. Cooked sweetbreads can be substituted for the chicken or you can use fish—tuna, crabmeat, lobster or salmon.

Cheese Omelet: Sprinkle a thick layer of grated cheese over the top before folding and serve surrounded by a border of sautéed tomato slices. This is inviting for dinner when the day has been hot.

If you start varying omelets you will go on almost indefinitely because all the vegetables can be used, mushrooms are delicious and the meats are savory and numerous.

Other Varieties

To make jelly omelet, spread cooked omelet with jelly just before folding. Jam, preserves or jelly can be used.

Ham Omelet: Sprinkle with a thick layer of chopped cooked ham, mixed with a little minced parsley if you like, before folding. I like to pour a cup of medium white sauce around ham omelet when ready to serve.

Economical Cakes

Though cheap, these small cakes are an asset to the afternoon tea table. Have a dozen small patty tins ready greased. Beat a heaped tablespoonful of butter to a cream, add half a teaspoonful of castor sugar, and beat until it is light and the sugar is dissolved. Add a beaten egg and a quarter of a teaspoonful of water, beating well all the time. Stir in gradually a teaspoonful of sieved self-raising flour, and beat again. An ounce of chopped currants, sultanas, glace cherries, or a mixture of these, can be added after the flour is beaten in if desired. Half fill the tins with the mixture and bake in a hot oven for ten to fifteen minutes.

COCKTAIL OF CARROTS

That the carrot is the vegetable par excellence for clearing the complexion is, I think universally conceded. But it is little known what a quantity of juice may easily be extracted from it.

As a welcome change from tomato juice, which is in vogue at present, try a carrot juice cocktail. Here's how.

Grate a large carrot and squeeze the pulp through a piece of butter muslin, when you will find yourself with about half a cupful of juice.

Sip this as a cocktail. Carrot juice is excellent for adults and a splendid help for babies suffering from nutrition deficiency diseases.

POTTED MEAT

For Sandwiches

When planning light refreshments for a large party it is always well to include some meat sandwiches, and you will find that if the fillings are home-made instead of having been brought in tins or jars, the men-folk especially will appreciate their flavour.

For any cooked meats intended to be eaten cold, imported meat is the most satisfactory provided it has been fully thawed before cooking.

With Anchovy

A small bottle of Anchovy Sauce is very useful in imparting a special relish to potted meat sandwiches. Many who would refuse anchovy in any other form will appreciate the flavour without being aware of what it is.

For a large number of sandwiches you would require 2 lbs. of beef steak, 1 tablespoonful of Anchovy Sauce and 4 lb. salt butter.

Cut the meat in five or six pieces. Place it in a jar in the oven (or set the jar in a pan of boiling water). Cover the meat with water and let it simmer for 5 hours. Then put it through the mincer twice, add the butter and anchovy sauce, also salt and pepper to taste. It can now be spread easily. Should you make it the day before, store it in several small jars, running little of the melted butter on top to keep out the air.

Potted Veal

Cold roast veal may be used up in this fashion. Place slices of veal in a pie dish and sprinkle them with salt, pepper and pounded mace. Place generous dabs of butter all about the top, add a cupful of water (more or less, according to the amount of meat) and bake in the oven for two hours.

Pound the veal in a motor, moistening it with a little of the gravy from the dish. When quite smooth it is ready for use.

It is not advisable to add ketchup or Worcester sauce for flavouring but those who like chillie vinegar may make use of it in moderation.

Veal and Ham

Make a note of this recipe because the remains of a cooked chicken may be used in the same way.

1 lb. cooked Veal or Chicken
1 lb. cooked lean Ham
1 tablespoonful Anchovy Essence.

1 lb. salt butter
Cayenne

Mince the meat and add the other ingredients. Pound them well together and press into a jar.

Stuffed Ham

The end of a cooked ham or any small pieces may be used for this. See that a quarter of the amount is fat and the rest lean. Mince very fine and pound or rub down to a paste. Add a little made mustard and a good pinch of cayenne pepper. Dissolve a heaped teaspoonful of fine sugar in a little vinegar and add this to the paste.

What is the USE of ADVERTISING

IF

the claims made are proved a fallacy? Would you buy that article a second time? While advertising is a powerful force in educating as to the uses, merits or money saving advantages of a product, the people are the judges when they make their first purchase. "Delivering the goods" is what they demand, and the scrap heap of failures is piled with goods that could not stand the test of public judgment. 'ASPRO' messages are carefully planned to prove what 'ASPRO' can do to alleviate pain and suffering, and the reason of its success throughout the civilised world is simple, because it fulfils all claims made for it. Its purity is its safety, and its quick action the healing service humanity appreciates. 'ASPRO' conforms to the standard of purity laid down by the British Pharmacopoeia (the guiding authority of the Medical Profession), and the 15 uses enumerated below make it an invaluable quick first-aid emergency in every home.

'ASPRO' GIVES QUICK AND SAFE RESULTS

Great Relief After 14 Years' Suffering

2 Thomas St., Lewisham, N.S.W.

28/2/33.

Dear Sirs,

I have been suffering from Rheumatism and Rheumatoid Arthritis for 12 to 14 years. I have taken a course of your 'ASPRO' Tablets—three after each meal—and often, when in pain, have taken an extra dose before going to bed.

I obtained very great relief from this treatment; in fact, I do not know how I could have continued to move about gradually improved. The pain has gradually improved. 'ASPRO' only occasionally. I can confidently recommend 'ASPRO' to all sufferers from rheumatism. (Sgd.) A. H. BURNS.

MATTERS FOR

Canton's Views

(From Our Special Correspondent)

Canton, Oct. 9.

The secretariat of the Central
Executive Committee in Nanking has replied to the circular telegram from the South-west leaders of September 8 and said that the four proposals of the Canton leaders had been received and would be referred to the Fifth Congress for consideration. The Canton leaders are reminded that if there are further resolutions for the consideration of the Congress, they should be sent to Nanking in accordance with the scope as announced on September 29.

In a further telegram to Nanking, the secretariat of the Kuomintang C.E.C. South-west division here pointed out the four proposals were sent by Canton members of the Central Executive Committee in their official capacity and that the four proposals were supplementary to those issued on August 10.

The telegram, which was sent to Nanking last night, further stated that the proposals of the Canton leaders should be sent to all Kuomintang organs in China and abroad in order to acquaint them with the supplementary proposals. The message explained that such proposals are different from other resolutions which may be submitted direct to the Congress.

"Our circular telegram of September 8 was replied on October
3," the Canton telegram said. "You do not accept them but order all newspapers not to publish them.
We consider that our proposals are for the national uplift of the country and merit close attention."

"It is necessary that the press should have freedom, so that the people can freely express their opinions in accordance with Party principles. If representatives to the Congress can express the opinion of the people without restraint, freedom of speech and press must be allowed."

COL. COSGRAVE

LEAVING

Basis Of New Post

Shanghai, Sept. 22.

Lieut.-Colonel L. M. Cosgrave,
n.s.c. Canadian Government Trade
Commissioner to China, is leaving Shanghai on November 18 to assume the post of Trade Commissioner at Melbourne, which was the first city to which the Canadian Government under its newly-instituted service ever appointed a Commissioner. Lieut.-Col. and Mrs.
Cosgrave, and their two children,
will proceed to Melbourne, via Honolulu, without returning to Canada.

Lieut.-Col. Cosgrave has occupied the post of Trade Commissioner since January, 1925, and since that time Sino-Canadian relationship has abundantly evidenced the influence of his personal efforts in promoting trade and developing closer contacts.

The departing Trade Commissioner is well-known in Shanghai business and social circles and he had a distinguished war record.

A member of all the leading clubs in Shanghai, Lieut.-Colonel Cosgrave was instrumental in the formation of the Canadian Association, afterwards known as the Canadian Club, of which he was
hon. president.

His new post carries with it historic distinction for while Canada was the first country to establish a commercial intelligence service
under government auspices, Melbourne was the first city to which a Trade Commissioner was appointed. Since then 34 similar posts have been created.

Lieut.-Col. Cosgrave's successor has not yet been announced.

CAPT. MARTIN

To Be Honoured

Shanghai, Oct. 7.

The officers and members of the Shanghai Municipal Police will make a presentation to-day to Capt. R.M.J. Martin, retiring Extra Commissioner of Police, who is about to leave Shanghai for England after 28 years' service.

The event will be held at noon
at Police Headquarters and practically all the high officials of the Police will be present. On Wednesday morning the Chinese
Branch of the force presented
Capt. Martin with a gold Buddha and on Wednesday evening a mess dinner was held in his honour by the officers of the Police and Specials.

Among those present at the dinner, which was held at the Shanghai Club, were Mr. F. W. Gerrard,
Commissioner; Maj. K. M. Borne,
Deputy Commissioner; Mr. R. C.
Akers, Deputy Commissioner; Mr.
A. Tajima, Deputy Commissioner and Mr. Yao Tseng-moo, Deputy Commissioner.

Capt. Martin officially retires on Sunday and will leave shortly thereafter. Mrs. Martin left for Home in July.

LOST PROPERTY

Left Behind In 'Planes

London, Sept. 15.

the second list of articles left behind in Imperial Airways liners.
Some passengers drop their topees in Brindisi, others leave them on the liner when leaving. Topees sometimes are never claimed or are left in the lost property office for months. It is suggested that the losing of topees is not so much a matter of forgetfulness but a gesture by passengers who want to forget the Indian sun.

When the owners are traced the topees are sent back. The lost property office of the Imperial Airways was started half-heartedly at first, but with the growth of air travel more and more articles are being left behind and the department had to be developed.
Perhaps the most curious article
left behind was a full set of false teeth, which was found on the floor of an air liner when it arrived at Croydon. These were never delivered. From another liner there was recovered a tube
of pills, a packet of neuralgia tablets and some bottles of medicine. These also were unclaimed, so it is presumed that the patient has been cured.

A big majority of mislaid articles, however, are returned to the rightful owners within a few days.

IMPROVED SITUATION IN SPAIN

Ex-Premier Azana Tracked Down In Barcelona

(Special to "Hong Kong Daily Press")
(By Telegraph, Copyright, Telegraphic Messages Ordinance, 1873. Received, October 10, 10.30 p.m.)

Madrid, Oct. 10. The mystery surrounding the whereabouts of ex-Premier Azana—who during the Catalan uprising had been named President of the planned "Federated Republic of Spain"—has been repeatedly reported and denied. It is now announced semi-officially that Azana, together with the Syndicalist leader, Angel Pestana, and the Catalan Army Captain, has been arrested in Barcelona and will be brought to Madrid.

The latest reports appear to indicate that the general situation has taken a decided turn for the better throughout the whole of Spain. Although armed strikers are still offering resistance in many of the smaller towns, especially in the North, Government forces are slowly but surely extinguishing the last embers of the revolt and the Lerroux Cabinet may now be the complete master of the situation.

GUERRILLA WARFARE

(Special to the "Hong Kong Daily Press" (Copyright).)

Madrid, Oct. 9. Although Premier Lerroux told the Press on Tuesday that he had received reassuring reports from all parts of Spain except Bilbao, messages from independent sources state that desperate guerrilla warfare is still going on in the provinces while even Madrid itself is in a state of confusion. Since then it has been ascertained that the heavy firing heard on Monday night, was directed at the palace where the cabinet was in session. The Marine, Transport and Public Works Ministries have likewise been attacked by the insurgents who were repulsed with heavy losses. The provisioning of the city is an acute problem because the arrival of food trains are rare while motor transport is sabotaged by strikers, the lorries being insufficiently protected. The Government has dispatched strong detachments of troops to Bilbao.

The situation in Asturias is causing grave anxiety because the troops occupying Oviedo have been driven out by rebels. The national arms factory in Trubia is still in the hands of the insurgents. Fifty-two soldiers proceeding to Trubia in lorries as reinforcements were blown into the air by a dynamite mine. A meeting of the Cortes was held on Tuesday afternoon and lasted barely an hour but it developed into a great proclamation of confidence in Lerroux and his Cabinet. Lerroux replied that he regarded it as his duty to repress the rebellion with all means at his disposal.

The Cortes passed a motion unanimously that the death sentence be re-introduced as a penalty for violations of the explosive law, armed attacks on human lives and cases of robbery with violence. Parliament then adjourned "until the return of normal conditions in Spain."

LERROUX CHEERED

Madrid, Oct. 9. The Cortes opened this afternoon, surrounded by a cordon of troops and police. Monarchists thunderously cheered the Premier, Senor Lerroux.

No Left Wing Deputies were present. It is understood that they were excluded because the Government intends to outlaw the Socialist Party.

Senor Lerroux in his speech, emphasised his determination to maintain order and unity in the motherland. It is understood that a law will be passed to provide a death sentence for people illegally carrying arms.

Spasmodic rioting continues in the provinces, but it is officially announced that the general situation throughout Spain has improved.

DEATH PENALTY

The Cortes passed a law prescribing penal servitude or the death penalty for illegal use of arms. The death penalty will be applied in cases where the use of arms is attended with fatal results. The Cortes also voted an increase of forty six million pesetas for police services.

DEAN INGE'S FAREWELL

Orders Against Any Memoir

(Special Air Mail Service)

London, Sept. 22. "Retrospect for me is a compound of shame and thankfulness."

"I see too clearly how miserably unworthy I have been of all the blessings which God has given me, and for this reason I have given strict orders that no member of me shall be published after my death."

Dr. W. R. Inge, the retiring Dean of St. Paul's, writes thus in a slim volume, "Vale," published to-day (Longmans, 3s. 6d.). He adds that he wishes to be remembered outside his family circle only by his books, "into which I have put what I wanted to say to the public."

Dr. Inge discloses that as a younger man he suffered the torment of deep-seated mental depression, a contributory cause of which was, he considers, overwork at school and university.

"My miseries," he says, "began when I was 7 years old, but I could say with Tennyson, 'From the time of my marriage the peace of God descended upon my life, and I have no doubt that when a man suffers from these troubles, and the "acedia" to which they lead, the blessed realisation that he loves and is loved is the best of all remedies.'"

The Dean returns to the subject of his domestic happiness in his final paragraphs: "The blessings which God has given me in my wife and children are in a different class from all other sources of happiness and pleasure that have come to me."

Dr. Inge had been for three years Lady Margaret Professor of Divinity at Cambridge when Mr.

Asquith offered him the deanery of St. Paul's. He was then 50.

I had no thought of another uprooting, and looked forward to the cloistered life of a scholar in congenial surroundings. It never entered my head that I was likely to be thought of for promotion in the Church. It was therefore a staggering surprise when, in 1911, Mr. Asquith, who was then Prime Minister, wrote to say that he had nominated me to the Deanery of St. Paul's.

I was much disposed to decline, knowing that no power on earth could turn me into an ecclesiastic, and being rather afraid of what I had been told of the tone of the Chapter at that time.

Why He Resigned

After the first few months, "which were not made very pleasant for me," the dean never regretted his decision. He had one or two opportunities of returning to academic work at Oxford—he was offered the Principality of Hertford College—but he did not wish to move.

Of his decision to resign, the dean says:

I did not think it fair that I should continue to hold the Deanery of St. Paul's to which I had been appointed solely as a minor prophet, after, in my own judgment, I had given my message, as well as I could, to my generation.

When once I had made up my mind that this was the right thing to do I was not troubled by doubts or regrets. I loved my beautiful official residence, and I loved my circle of friends, in whom I was very fortunate.

The dean says that he has never had a day's serious illness in his life, but he does not consider that old age is the best time of life: "Still less can I agree with the Greek poets who prayed that they might die at 60."

THE SCOTS LEGION

Sir Ian Hamilton's Suggestion

(Special Air Mail Service)

Edinburgh, Sept. 22. General Sir Ian Hamilton, president of the British Legion for Scotland, has been looking at the position of ex-Service men in Scotland, and finds that it is "not well."

He spoke of it when he opened new headquarters at Hamilton, on Saturday.

"Still they sit there looking on in hundreds of thousands, watching our comparatively tiny body of Legionnaires sweating their guts out for them, and for the widows and orphans of their dead comrades," he said.

"If anyone has to go and wrangle with departments of Government for their wound pensions, allowances, and all rest of it, we have to go."

No Organisation

"If a bad Government came in and swept away all the pledges, the ex-Service men of Scotland would be utterly helpless. They have no organisation. They could only sit down and pray."

"All this will be recognised 50 years hence, when our movements get their proper historical settings. But that is chilly comfort."

"I got an idea during an attack of 'flu I enjoyed two days ago. Why should Scottish Legionnaires not be allowed to anticipate the honour history will. I am sure, be inclined to give them?"

"Why should not our National Executive Council in Edinburgh authorise the relatives of any man who, during the last three years

NEW DEAL IN AMERICA

Saved The Country From Revolution

Chicago, October 9.

The claim that the New Deal had saved the United States from revolution was made to-day by Dr. Donald R. Richberg, President Roosevelt's chief policy adviser, in a speech delivered here.

He declared that had the Government yielded to "destructive political clamours for immediate balancing of the budget," the country would have been plunged into a national disaster.

Thanks to the constructive measures which had helped to revive private businesses, Federal relief this winter should be far less than last year, he said.—Reuter.

of his life, has been a member of the British Legion (and paid his subscription) to have carved on the top of his tombstone a small thistle?

His Scottish Birth

"In the course of the centuries it would then surely come to pass that the descendants of a soldier who had fought, not only in the war, but afterwards, for the widows and orphans of his comrades, would have the right to think themselves better bred than the descendants even of a V.O., who, after gaining his decoration, had thought only of himself for the remaining days of his life."

Sir Ian said that his birth had been extremely Scottish, and there was accordingly no question of his eligibility to act as president of the Scottish Section of the Legion. It had perhaps not taken place on Scottish soil, but it had taken place at Corfu, when the Gordon Highlanders were stationed there, and he had been told that the regiment had received an extra large drink that day. (Laughter.)

AT THE KING'S

"Cockeyed Cavaliers"

An advanced technique in the production and direction of a musical motion picture and which has gained recognition from the Motion Picture Academy of Arts and Sciences, is demonstrated in "Cockeyed Cavaliers." Bert Wheeler and Robert Woolsey's new starring comedy, showing to-day at the King's Theatre.

The method was devised by Mark Sandrich, who won the Academy award with his "So This Is Harris." In directing "Cockeyed Cavaliers," Sandrich piloted the musical comedy according to his original screen standards rather than stage dicta. He keeps the film continually uninterrupted through his device of incorporating the dances, songs and vocalizations and music accompaniment itself as part of the story. The lyrics are of integral importance to the film story, although they could be sung independently.

Sandrich strikes an original note in musical movie production by synchronizing all incidental sounds with the action. Swishing horse tails, grunting animals, creaking coach wheels, postillions' cries, clanging bells and hunters' calls are blended into the film in novel fashion.

The ultra-modern technique, convulsing comedy, eye-filling pulchritude and four new tuneful melodies are set against a story whose setting is a random European locale during the Middle Ages. Wheeler and Woolsey play the title roles in "Cockeyed Cavaliers" as vagabond knights around whose adventures the film's hilarity is built.

MANDALAY

Opening On Saturday

"Mandalay," the First National picture which will open at the Alhambra Theatre on Saturday, is enacted by an unusually large and talented cast with four players in the stellar roles.

Kay Francis, recently seen in "The House on 56th Street," "I Loved a Woman" and "Mary Stevens, M.D.," heads the featured players while Lyle Talbot plays opposite Miss Francis as the man in whom she finally finds romance. He will be remembered for such pictures as "College Coach" and "Havana Widows," as well as having played with Miss Francis in "Mary Stevens, M.D."

Ricardo Cortez and Warner Oland are the two other principals, both in the roles of villains. Cortez, as well as Talbot, has appeared with Miss Francis before, having had the villain role in "The House on 56th Street." He also appeared recently in "The Big Shakedown," "Big Executive" and "The Torch Slinger."

Warner Oland's most recent pictures include "As Husbands Go," "The Death Watch" and "Charlie Chan's Greatest Case." In the supporting cast will be found such talented players as Ruth Donnell, Reginald Owen, Hobart Cavanaugh, David Torrence, Rafaela Ottiano, Halliwell Hebbes, Etienne Girardot, Lucien Littlefield, Bodil Rosing, Herman Bing and Harry C. Bradley.

The picture is a tale of romance and thrilling adventure set in the colourful background of Burma, and concerns a beautiful Russian exile who is sold into virtual slavery to a night club resort keeper by the man she loves. Her flight and pursuit forms an exciting portion of the drama that is filled with thrills.

Michael Curtiz directed the picture from the screen play by Austin Parker and Charles Kenyon, based on the story by Paul Hervey Fox.

"Certainly," said the manager, "but where have you been all this time? The cashier has stopped late every Friday night, expecting you to come in for your wages."

"What?" exclaimed the startled collector. "Do I get wages as well?"

THE ROYAL WEDDING

On November 29 At
The Abbey

(Special Air Mail Service)

It was definitely decided yesterday that the marriage of Prince George and Princess Marina shall take place in Westminster Abbey on Thursday, November 29.

It is expected that after the service in the Abbey a further ceremony will take place according to the rites of the Greek Orthodox Church, to which Princess Marina and her parents belong. The place in which the second ceremony will be held has yet to be chosen.

The date has been fixed after long discussions between the King and Queen, Prince and Princess Nicholas, the Church authorities, and Prince George and his fiancée. The Archbishop of Canterbury, who has been staying at Balmoral Castle, has taken part in the consultations.

The date arranged for the wedding is the day before Princess Marina's twenty-eighth birthday, according to the old Greek calendar, but this is 13 days behind the present-day calendar, so that, according to English reckoning, her actual birthday falls on December 13.

Details of the wedding ceremony have not yet been definitely settled, but it is practically certain that the Archbishops of both Canterbury and York will be present at the Abbey service. Particulars of the arrangements at the Abbey will be settled in consultation with the Dean of Westminster (Dr. Foxley Norris), who is now on holiday.

The King and Queen will drive in full State from Buckingham Palace to the Abbey with an escort of Household Cavalry. Prince George will drive separately with his best man—probably the Prince of Wales. Princess Marina will go to the Abbey in a third procession with her parents Prince and Princess Nicholas of Greece. The Duke of Gloucester will still be away in Australia.

Before the wedding day the King will hold a Privy Council, probably at Buckingham Palace shortly after his return from Balmoral. The two Archbishops will be present in accordance with traditional usage, and the King will signify his consent to the wedding by an Order in Council. Immediately afterwards the wedding date will be announced officially in the "London Gazette."

It is expected that Princess Elizabeth will be one of the bridesmaids.

The Royal wedding will take place nine days after the state opening of Parliament by the King and Queen, which is fixed for Tuesday, November 20.

Prince George and Princess Marina spent several hours at Balmoral yesterday with the King and Queen, Prince and Princess Nicholas, and the Duke and Duchess of York and Princess Elizabeth, choosing tartans, sporting check tweeds, travelling rugs, and other woollen goods. Prince George bought his fiancée some hunting Stuart tartans, which she will be entitled to wear when she becomes by her marriage a member of the Stuart Clan.

MOTOR CRASHES INTO TREE

Two Chinese Ladies
Injured

Two young Chinese ladies are at present lying in the Kowloon hospital, one of them in a serious condition, as the result of a motor accident which occurred at Tsun Wan at 3 p.m. yesterday. The car, a Ford V8 in which they were travelling with four other passengers and which was driven at the time by Yu Han Kan, crashed into a tree while on its way to Kowloon.

The victims of this unfortunate mishap were:

Miss Laura Tang, 15, who received a fractured skull. Miss Katie Wong, 17, who received cuts in the face and lips, and Yu Han Kan, the driver, who suffered a fractured jaw.

The other passengers received minor injuries which did not necessitate their admittance to hospital.

GERMAN DEBT PROBLEM

Deputation Calls
on Mr. Runciman

London, Oct. 9. The deputations were informed of the results of the discussions which have recently taken place in Berlin between representatives of the British and German Governments regarding outstanding commercial debts and future trade between the two countries. The deputation expressed their

ECHOES OF 1861

75-Returning The City

On Saturday morning a brilliant cortege assembled at 9 a.m. at the Commissioners' Yamen, Canton, consisting of Lord the Governor General and sixteen other high mandarins on the part of the Chinese and all the consular, naval and military officers stationed near Canton, on the part of the Allies. Guards of honour, bands of music, brazen artillery, sparkling champagne, and all the pomp and circumstance of war was put into requisition to make the occasion as imposing as possible, and complete success was the result.

The ceremony was the occasion of the last visit of the Canton authorities to the Allied Commissioners. The public were admitted into the adjoining rooms, and could witness all that occurred through the Chinese trellis work. The ceremony lasted about one hour and went off with great spirit, the energy and tact of Mr. Parks never allowing things to go flag for one moment.

At three in the afternoon of the same day, the Allied Commissioners returned the visit at the Governor General's Yamen where the civilities and courtesies observed in the morning were fully reciprocated.

At seven yesterday morning the Governor General and other High Officials were to meet the Allied Commissioners at a large fine mat building situated close to the headquarters, which has been used for a Chapel—The city would then be formally given up.

The yamen occupied by the Allied Commissioners, our readers may be aware, was the headquarters of a Tartar general. It is an immense place with a pretty little park behind it. A portion of the building and the whole of the park have been secured for the city residence of the British Consul who would hoist his flag there yesterday immediately on the city becoming Chinese. The Consular offices will remain in Honan, until a move shall be made towards Shamoen.

The Chinese were busy at work during the whole of last week in restoring all the places evacuated by the allies to their former state—Joss altars, incense burners, idols, screens, and such like trumpery appeared to be raised out of the earth to assist in obliterating all signs of foreign occupation. Nay, in several places still occupied by foreign troops were the joiner, bricklayer, painter and bowse all busily at work, doubtless with the permission of the authorities. The avidity with which the Chinese receive back the rights whereto grim war for a time deprived them is most marked, and is simultaneous on both of the people and of the government. This is a most significant feature and bears forcibly on the resuscitation of the old city, if political events should continue favourable.

views as to the steps which might be taken by the British Government in any future discussions with the German Government on these matters.

The Minister assured the deputation their views would receive full consideration in connection with the negotiations, which are to be resumed shortly in Berlin. British Wireless.

LOCAL AQUATICS

Another Record
Beaten

The cream of local swimming talent were seen in action at the Colony's championships organised by the Victoria Recreation Club which was held yesterday evening at the V.R.C.

Though only three events were decided, the spectators were provided with plenty of excitement. The 100 yards free style record of 58 seconds held by D. Lyon for 10 years was shattered by W. Lawrence, who covered the distance in 57.4/5 seconds.

The 100 yards free style colony championship was the first event swum and three swimmers competed, Lawrence, A. A. Roza and Roza-Pereira. E. B. da Roza, being indisposed, withdrew his entry at the last moment.

The start was even and at the end of the first length, Lawrence, with a slight lead was first and Roza was second. Roza-Pereira was very near behind. At the last lap Lawrence gained further lead and Roza-Pereira was still struggling to beat Roza. Lawrence won the race comfortably, Roza was second and Roza-Pereira third.

The Polo Ball throw was won by T. Paget, the holder, with a throw of 71 feet 6 inches. Fallagher was second and Lopes third.

Two club's events were swum to give the competitors a "breather," the 75 yards handspike and three-legged race. The first was won by C. F. da Silva. Some excitement was caused in the 3 legged race which was won by A. A. Roza and A. A. Roza-Pereira.

The last championship event of the day was the 100 yards back stroke. Lat Pa-Hai was 1st in 59.4/5 seconds. Lawrence, Roza-Pereira and Shok finished in the order named.

THE DOUBLE TENTH

Local Celebrations

Yesterday was China's National Day—the Double Tenth Festival marking the 23rd anniversary of the Chinese Republic, and it was again celebrated by the Chinese community, not only in the Colony, but also in every part of the country, in time honoured fashion.

The day was observed as a general holiday and the Chinese National flag and red ensign were flown side by side in many of the Chinese shops and buildings.

The streets were full of sight-seers, while the cinema houses were reported to have done a roaring business. In the evening, musical concerts were held at different schools and colleges.

At the Chinese Chamber of Commerce, the Chinese General Chamber of Commerce, the committee members and friends gathered together in the hall and at the call of Mr. Wong Yu Tung, who took the chair in the absence of Mr. Wong Kwong Tin, the assembly stood up and facing the National flag, which was hung on the wall at one end of the hall, and bowed reverently three times.

Mr. Wong Yu Tung then made a short speech urging the members of the Chamber to realize the importance of the Chinese Republic, and reminding them that they were commemorating a red-letter day in China's history, after which tea and refreshments were served.

Among those present were Mr. Wong Yu Tung, Dr. Li Ping Sun, Messrs. Wong Lin Fook, Kwan Tat Chi, Ko Wing Kwok, Chung Kit Hing, Kwan Shu Chung, Yue Cheuk Sang, Yeung Shuen Po, Fook Yiu Ting, Fung Sheung Chuen, Kwok Lan Ting, Wong Hing San, Chow Sing Chee, Chan Ming Cheung, Sinn Pui Kwan, Au Chak Sum, Cheung Wing Fong and many others.

CHINA "WARNS" THE LEAGUE

Mr. Quo Tai Chi Speaks Out

(Special Air Mail Service)

London, Sept. 22.

"I cannot conceal from you that the vote of the Assembly on the question of reeligibility (of China as a non-permanent member of the Council) has given a fresh impetus to the large and growing section of Chinese public opinion that questions whether it is worth our while continuing to strain every nerve to pay large sums to a League that apparently regards the Covenant east of Suez as a dead letter, and is not even concerned to maintain its own agreement that Asia should be adequately represented on its Council."

That statement was made by Mr. Quo Tai-chi, speaking in the Fourth Commission of the League of Nations on a demand that the Chinese assessment should be reduced by one-half. He added:—

"This is not the Government's opinion. The Government's attitude to the League and the whole idea of co-operation between East and West has been stated in the Assembly."

"Held Up To Obloquy"

"We stand by every word of that statement, but I must warn the Committee that the Chinese Government cannot any longer acquiesce in a situation in which China, for no fault of her own, is officially proclaimed by the League of Nations a defaulter, with the result that we have been held up to obloquy throughout the press of the world, and our national reputation has suffered."

"The matter must be cleared up and settled at this Assembly."

"China has since 1931 paid into the treasury of the League sums amounting to 5,250,000 gold francs. She has acquitted herself of her obligations under the agreement of consolidated arrears of 1930."

"The Time Has Come"

"The time has come when the arrangement by which the Chinese assessment was reduced by half as a temporary measure must be made permanent and confirmed by the Assembly."

"China is ready to go on paying the sums of 1,250,000 gold francs annually that they have been paying since 1931, but a stigma of default is one we cannot and will not labour under any longer."

SOCIAL WELFARE

Educating The Public

(By Rev. T. F. Ryan S.J.)

When estimating the relative value of State-controlled and voluntary social services, one might be inclined to say: Look at the many important public services that began as voluntary undertakings, is not the fact that all these passed eventually into the care of the State an almost unanswerable argument in favour of State control? But one would be equally justified in replying: On the contrary, it is one of the strongest arguments for voluntary service, for it proves that it often shows the State what needs to be done, and does the pioneer work that is required before a State service can be established.

This aspect of voluntary social welfare work, the task of experimenting and of educating the public, is often lost sight of, yet it is a most important side and of the utmost value. It is generally admitted that it is not the duty of Parliaments to initiate legislation which is in advance of public opinion. The State cannot be expected to experiment in social reform, in fact it would be very dangerous if it did. But voluntary bodies can afford to experiment, and to admit mistakes if they make them, and to go on trying until the most suitable method is found. And at the same time they can carry on propaganda and agitation in order to educate public opinion, in a way that would be quite impossible for a State department.

There is hardly a single branch of public Social Service that does not owe its origin to voluntary enterprise. Labour exchanges, health clinics, thrift societies, the care of the blind—these and numberless others began humbly as voluntary works, until their utility and need was proved, and then they were taken over by the State. No sensible voluntary worker wants to go on doing partially and ineffectively anything that might be done comprehensively and efficiently by the State, but often years of patient, plodding work are necessary before legislators can be convinced that a particular service is necessary, and before the public will agree that it is worth paying for.

Children's Playgrounds

The provision of Children's Playgrounds is a case in point. It took many years of patient work, often in face of ridicule and bitter criticism, to persuade the public of many countries that the increased speed of road traffic made the public thoroughfares no longer a safe place for children to play, and that special playground spaces should be provided for them. It also took considerable agitation and energy to induce parliaments to authorise local bodies to maintain these playgrounds out of the public funds. And the task of persuading local bodies to use their powers and provide and maintain these playgrounds is still going on. Even when the local public authorities admit in principle the need of these playgrounds it is as a general rule only when a voluntary society can show that a particular playground is needed and can be provided at a certain annual cost that it is made a public charge. For that reason, it has become in many places a regular procedure for a voluntary Society to provide and equip a playground, and then maintain and supervise it for a year at its own expense, before asking the local authorities to provide the cost of maintenance in the future.

Not all voluntary welfare work is necessarily preparing the way for State control, but much of it is, and in most cases the efficient management of a public Social Service is due in great measure to the forgotten pioneers who initiated and developed it as a voluntary work.

EXCHEQUER RETURNS

London, October 9.

The Exchequer returns for the past week show that during the current financial year the total ordinary revenue, exclusive of self-balancing revenue, amounted at October 8 to £284,125,005, which is £1,103,728 less than the amount collected at the corresponding date last year.

Expenditure for the same period, exclusive of self-balancing items, was £256,262,822, which exceeds the amount expended at the corresponding date last year by £25,962,684.—

THE CHINESE Y.M.C.A.

Extension Opened By Bishop

The new extension of the Chinese Y.M.C.A., Waterloo Road, Kowloon, was formally opened by the Rt. Rev. Bishop R.O. Hall yesterday afternoon in the presence of a large gathering including Dr. S.W. Phoon, Rev. Y.H. Tso, Mr. and Mrs. J.L. MacPherson, Rev. E.L. Allen, Miss N. Elliot, Miss Polk, Miss Griffith, Mr. J.D. Bush, Mr. William C.H. Chan, Mr. I.N. Chau, Mr. Ko Sik Wal, Mr. P. C. Kwok, Mr. Ho Yau Tak, Mr. Chiu Kam To and Rev. Tsang Ki On.

Prior to the ceremony, the Bishop was presented with a gold key by Mr. I.N. Chau, the architect, and after the opening, Bishop Hall addressed the gathering in the course of which he congratulated the Chinese "Y" for being able to build the extension and for having chosen such a happy day for the opening. As an outsider and friend he also wished to congratulate the Chinese people on the 23rd anniversary of their Republic, and the Government in Nanking for being able to hold the country together for so long in spite of enemies both within and without.

The Bishop then went on to eulogise the splendid work done in connection with Y.M.C.A. in Hongkong by Mr. J.L. MacPherson, who, he said, had now reached the old age of 60. He congratulated the Chinese "Y" for all Mr. MacPherson had done for them and on the magnificent way in which Mr. MacPherson had managed in spite of his 60 years, to keep himself young.

Three Principles

Continuing, Bishop Hall said he wanted to point out three things. The first two were those they should not do and the third was that they must do. The first thing was that young men must not listen to what the Directors told them about what they did in 1932. In other words, it was only that they might learn what not to do and not what they ought to do. The second point was that they must not listen to the young members of the Association. The third was that they must listen to the very young or to the very old men but they must listen to God and only by listening to God would they get Christians back to their right place in the Y.M.C.A. They could not get it back by prayer meetings and other meetings but by listening to what God had to say to him personally. God, he said, seemed to have one rule which he never broke and that was He would never give him guidance as to what to do, but only told him what he ought to do.

Bishop Hall concluded by saying "May God bless you and all that you do in this place."

THE CITY OF CAMBRIDGE

Members Of The Crew Interviewed

A graphic description of the ordeal which members of the S.S. City of Cambridge had to undergo in order to reach safety was related to a member of the Hong Kong Daily Press by members of the crew which landed in Hong Kong yesterday morning from H.M.S. Suffolk of the Fifth Cruiser Squadron which carried out the rescue work.

How the rescued members were forced to drag a longboat through boiling surf over two miles of a coral reef was also related.

The men were none the worse for their experience and the fact that nobody was injured speaks highly of the way in which the rescue was carried out.

It is now revealed that although the lifeboat from the Suffolk reached its objective early on Sunday morning, it had to put back owing to heavy seas in the vicinity, endangering the craft, which was very badly battered about.

Late on Saturday evening the City of Cambridge was in wireless communication with the Suffolk who said she would try and make the scene before nightfall, but the tremendous seas running at the time prevented the cruiser's arrival before late at night.

Ten-Mile Row

Early Sunday morning a steam pinnace towed one of the Suffolk's lifeboats within two miles of the reef on the lagoon side and the crew then battled its way to the reef and over two miles of coral, where the water at times was only 18 inches deep.

The rescuers were unable to approach closer than 50 or 75 yards for fear of being capsize by the surf which was breaking over the bow and stern of the stricken vessel.

The crew of the Suffolk's lifeboat then had the strenuous task of rowing back over the coral reef and were then astounded to discover that the pinnace had put back to the Suffolk. This left them with the task of rowing back to the cruiser, a total distance of about 10 miles!

Early on Monday morning the first attempt to reach the other side of the surf was made by members of the Cambridge's crew.

Four quartermasters and the Second Officer manned one of the ship's lifeboats and managed with great difficulty in reaching the farther side of the surf where they made a jury anchor with six fire bars and a bolt and then ran a line from the coral reef to the ship.

This made things easier for the lifeboats travelling from the ship to the farther side of the surf although a high sea was still running on the sea-side of the stricken vessel.

Owing to the state of the surroundings the lifeboats landed their complement on the reef and were made to sail over the reef.

Strong Under-Tow

One of the boats was carrying 47 all told including Europeans and lascars and on several occasions the vessel grounded and had to be pushed along by the entire crew.

The work at the start of their two mile trek across the coral reef was fraught with danger as there was a strong under-tow and the lives of many of the men were frequently endangered.

Eventually after reaching the edge of the reef, the boats were either sailed or rowed to the steam pinnace which then towed the boats to the Suffolk.

On Monday one of the Suffolk's lifeboats managed to reach the jury anchor and succeeded in rescuing the last batch of twenty survivors.

The men were very glad to get off the vessel and as one of them expressed his opinion, "I should not like to spend another night like Saturday when the terrific seas pounded the ship and made her rattle like a bag of old bones."

Eighty survivors all told were taken off the City of Cambridge which has now been abandoned.

The Suffolk arrived in port shortly after 10.30 yesterday morning, the lascars members of the crew being sent to the Indian Mosque, while the remainder of the crew which comprised Europeans were put up at the Seamen's Home.

FIRST REPORT ISSUED

German Refugee Problem

Mr. James G. McDonald, the energetic American whom the League of Nations appointed High Commissioner for German Refugees, has just prepared his first annual report. "Never despairing, never satisfied" perhaps sums up this sober record of difficulties surmounted and obstacles still to be overcome.

It is obviously no mean achievement that provision has been made for 25,000 of the men, women and children forced to leave Nazi Germany. At the same time, the total number of refugees cannot be less than 60,000. Moreover the exodus has by no means come to an end. It is one of the tragedies of the situation that, as fast as groups of refugees can be settled in places of safety, others flock over the frontiers to take their place on the waiting-list. Such a problem would tax the resources and ingenuity of the most efficient and well-endowed relief organisation that could be conceived.

The present Commission would be the first to admit its limitations, which are not of its own making. The constant struggle for funds is a continuous handicap. Almost all the money so far has been subscribed from Jewish sources, although twenty per cent. of the refugees are not Jews.

Then the available funds cannot be used to such lasting effect as was the case with previous refugee settlement schemes sponsored by the League of Nations. In the historic Greek experiment, for example, a million people were settled in permanent productive employment. Vast tracts of waste land were reclaimed, thousands of towns and villages built, and the refugees converted into an actual asset to the country.

The League Spirit

With the German refugees, the circumstances are entirely different. There can be no question of wholesale settlement or colonisation. Most of the countries which admit any obligation, moral or otherwise, to accept refugees regard it as an unpleasant necessity. They have their own unemployment difficulties to hamper the amount of assistance which they are prepared to give. It is quite common to find the German exiles admitted only on condition that they will not look for work. Thus the funds have to be used for non-productive purposes.

All things considered, it is surprising that so much has been done by Mr. McDonald and his colleagues. They intend to carry on in the true League spirit.

THE ARMY

Colonel O. Y. Hibbert

(Special Air-Mail Service).

London, Sept. 22.

The 132nd (Middlesex and Kent) Infantry Brigade, T.A., will be taken over to-day by a commander associated with its area, Colonel Oswald Yates Hibbert, D.S.O., M.C., relinquished command of the 1st Battalion, The Queen's Own Royal West Kent Regiment, 10 months ago to-day after having served in the old 50th since the South African War, in which he took part at the age of 20.

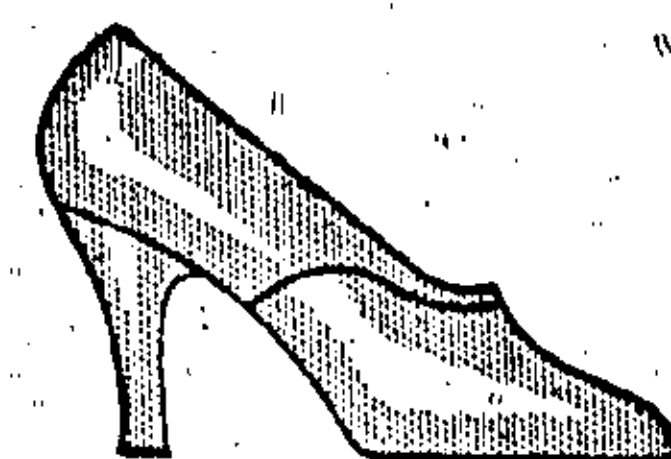

He was educated at Shrewsbury and Sandhurst and his early service was with the 2nd Battalion (old 97th) in Ceylon, Hong Kong, Singapore, and on the North-West Frontier. In 1912 he entered the Staff College at Quetta, was promoted captain while there, and passed out at a period when Majors: Buckle, O'Dowda, Hubert Isacks, and Captains Nunn, Joslin, C. Bonham-Carter, Hildyard, and Tulloch were all p.s.c. officers in the regiment. He was staff captain and brigade major in 1915 when posted to G.H.Q. India Force "D," Mesopotamia, from duty in Persia, being wounded, made prisoner, and thrice mentioned. He obtained his majority in 1918 and subsequently was brigade major with the West Riding Territorial Reserve Brigade, 7th Infantry Brigade, and G.S.O.2 in Ireland before being promoted Lieutenant-colonel in 1929. The units of his brigade, are the battalions headquartered at Hornsey, Hounslow, Willesden, and Bromley, with the brigade office in Westminster.

INTERPORT CRICKET

Shanghai All Out for 335

STOKES MAKES 161

Shanghai, Oct. 10. The Interport match between Hong Kong and Shanghai opened here to-day under ideal conditions the weather being fine and the wicket perfect. Shanghai won the toss and Donald Leach elected to bat, sending out Bidwell and Stokes to open the innings. The Hong Kong attack was entrusted to the Indian Recreation Club opening pair, Pereira and Minu, who sent down some excellent stuff which pegged down the batsmen. With only 14 runs on the board, Minu met with his first success when he claimed Bidwell's wicket, Dunkley taking a smart catch behind the stumps. Sam Kermani joined Stokes and together they took the score to 44 when a double change was effected. Ricketts and Garthwaite coming on. The fifty was hoisted after as many minutes and 25 minutes later Stokes reached his 50, and in the next over he sent up the hundred with a boundary off Ricketts. Another double change was effected at 103, Pereira and Alex Pearce being brought on. In the meantime Kermani added to his score slowly but surely and he obtained his half-century after he had been batting for 90 minutes. The 150 was signalled after 110 minutes and at 154 Minu and Madar were given the ball.

Stokes gave his first chance when his score stood at 97. He sent up a easy catch off Minu but Barnes failed to accept it and the batsman celebrated the let-off with a cut to the boundary off Madar to reach his hundred after a forceful knock. In 125 minutes Ricketts replaced Madar but the batsmen were not in the least affected and lunch was taken with the score at 194 for 1.

After the interval the Hong Kong bowlers met with kinder fate and after Stokes and Kermani had been dismissed the rest of the team, with the exception of Barnes crumpled before the bowling. Ricketts was the most successful bowler, taking 4 wickets for 52 runs while Alex Pearce had a like number for 82 runs.

A BIT OF OLD CHELSEA

Sold For Over £3000

(Special Air Mail Service)
London, Sept. 22.
The desire of two women to own a motor-car has led to an important art discovery.

Looking through their treasures in their house in Lincolnshire for something to sell, they hit upon a piece of old Chelsea china, which had been in their family for years. It was called "The Music Lesson" and showed two figures—a young man teaching a girl how to play the flute.

This piece of china was sent to an auction-room with a reserve price of £100 upon it.

The dealers, when they came to bid for it, could hardly believe their eyes. For it was one of a famous group of three pieces—of which one is now in the Victoria and Albert Museum—and was from the design of the famous French sculptor, Roubiliac. In the end it was bought for £3150.

APPEAL FOR NATIONAL CONSOLIDATION

Mr. Wang Ching Wei's Broadcast Speech

[Special to the "Hong Kong Daily Press" (Copyright).]

Nanking, Oct. 10. In a speech broadcast from the Central Broadcasting Station, Mr. Wang Ching Wei, President of the Executive Yuan, strongly appealed for concerted efforts for national consolidation and simultaneous preparedness for supreme sacrifice to overcome the national crisis. Classifying Chinese public opinion generally into those in view of China's weakness advocating patience towards national humiliation and efforts for national consolidation and those urging immediate sacrifice, Mr. Wang pointed out that they were both indispensable although it was problematic whether either could be carried out successfully at the moment. Regarding consolidation, Mr. Wang observed that on account of the scientific and economic backwardness of the country, China was scarcely able to compete with more advanced nations. In the matter of military equipment for instance, the experiences of the last decades show that whenever there were some successes in national revolution the efforts were soon sabotaged externally. The spirit of sacrifice must be preserved and cherished.

DR. WANG'S TRIP

Important Mission To South

[Special to the "Hong Kong Daily Press" (Copyright).]

Shanghai, Oct. 10. It is reliably learnt that Dr. Wang Ching Wei, a member of the Central Supervisory Committee and Judge of the Permanent Court of International Justice is on a private trip to Canton from Shanghai and carries an unofficial message from the National Government.

Dr. Wang returned from Europe last August and interviewed General Chiang Kai Shek, President Wang Ching Wei, Mr. Sun Fo and Mr. Chu Cheng and was asked by the National Government to convey to the South-western leaders in Canton and Hong Kong the Government policy regarding national affairs, especially at the forthcoming Fifth National Congress.

It is learnt further that the National Government has expressed to Dr. Wang that any difference of opinion should be resolved by means of sincere discussions.

Dr. Wang is understood to have expressed willingness to take up the missions.

YUGOSLAVIA AND FRANCE PLUNGED INTO SORROW

Assassination Of Ruler
And French MinisterSHOCK TO MARSEILLES
REJOICINGAssassin Meets Death After
Dastardly Deed

Another outrage since the attack on the life of Chancellor Dollfus started the world and plunged Yugoslavia and France into the deepest sorrow when assassin's bullets ended the lives of King Alexander, ruler of Yugoslavia, and M. Louis Barthou, French Foreign Minister and an outstanding personality in European politics.

Marseilles city's welcome proved to be a sad illusion as a few minutes after the Royal visitor was greeted by the populace, the assassin, an exile from Yugoslavia, stepped out from the crowd to the motor car and fired at point blank range, mortally wounding the King and the French Minister, while others were also wounded in the police fire which ended the life of the assassin.

(Special to the "Hong Kong Daily Press").

Paris, Oct. 10. Some of the reports that have arisen following the crime in Marseilles have since proved to be incorrect. Thus the statements by an "eye-witness" that Kalemien, who fired the fatal shots at King Alexander and Foreign Minister Barthou, had several confederates in the crowd who also opened fire on the occupants of the motor cars in the Royal procession is now given little credence by the police who are inclined to believe that Kalemien was the sole perpetrator of the horrible deed. Reports that a Yugoslav General and a French Admiral were likewise killed have fortunately turned out to be chest above the heart.

Kalemien who sustained several bullet and stab wounds was still alive when taken to Police Headquarters but despite all efforts to save him, he died soon after, without having regained consciousness, so that the police were not able to question him.

A MODERN AUTOMATIC

The assassin was found to be in possession of a modern automatic with a magazine holding twenty rounds of ammunition. This undoubtedly was the weapon with which he perpetrated the crime; he had, in addition, more than one hundred rounds in his pockets. An examination of Kalemien's corpse led to the interesting discovery that his left arm was tattooed, showing a crown encircled by a skull and two cross bones and some letters meaning "liberty or death." These are said to be the symbols of Macedonian Komitadjis who for many years have been waging guerilla warfare for Macedonia's independence.

Kalemien was not registered in any of Marseilles' hotels or boarding houses and it is considered possible that he stayed with compatriots who the police have not yet been able to trace. Kalemien's name was not on the list of dangerous Yugoslavian nationals which the Yugoslavian secret police had submitted to the French authorities for purposes of checking, prior to the King's visit.

INCIDENT FILMED

By a remarkable coincidence, the entire scene of the assassination was filmed by the camera man of a newsreel company. The film has been seized by the police and it may solve the question as to whether Kalemien had any accomplices or not.

The French nation stood dumbfounded on Tuesday night by the news of the deplorable act of treachery that cost the lives of the King of Yugoslavia and the French Foreign Minister.

The reception for King Alexander for which such elaborate preparations have been made has thus been ended by plunging the two nations into mourning. Police investigations have revealed all details of the lamentable tragedy.

PRECAUTIONS TAKEN

Every precaution had been taken to assure the safety of the royal guest but several persons must have worked together to carry out a minutely prepared plot. The appearance of Kalemien whose shots killed King Alexander gave no cause for suspicion. He remained quietly standing in the crowd until the King's car turned the corner at the Bourse when he dashed forward, climbed up the running board and fired four or five shots at the King from point blank range. The chauffeur immediately seized him by the throat but he wrenched himself free and tried to commit suicide by shooting himself through the mouth. Before the police could intervene, the mob lynched Kalemien on the spot while almost simultaneously a police bullet ended the man's life.

IN MARSEILLES

In Marseilles the city wears the deepest signs of mourning, flags being flown at half-mast from all houses and shops. When the cars carrying the wounded reached the Prefecture, surgeons did their utmost to rescue the Royal patient but the King passed away at 5 o'clock, French time, without having recovered consciousness. The King was wounded twice, namely on the breast and the head, the doctors stating that at least one of the shots was fatal. Kalemien's death seems rather to have been due to heart failure brought about by shock and loss of blood, the wounds themselves not appearing so serious at first. The foreign Minister died at 6 o'clock French time.

THE CABINET MEETS

The French Cabinet met on Tuesday night and decided to accord Barthou a national funeral. President Lebrun, M. Doumergue and several ministers left for Marseilles by special train at 9.30 p.m. the Air Minister following later by airplane.

The mortal remains of King Alexander will be conveyed home to Yugoslavia by the cruiser "Dubrovnik" which will be accompanied by several French warships as convoy.

QUEEN INFORMED

(Special to the "Hong Kong Daily Press").

(By Telegraph, Copyright, Telegraphic Messages Ordinance, 1894. Received, October 10, 4.30 p.m.)

Lyons, Oct. 10. A special train carrying the Queen of Yugoslavia—who had intended meeting the King here and accompanying him to Paris for a visit—arrived here late last night and was immediately boarded by Prefect Rhoux who gently broke the news of the King's death to her.

Madame Herriot, wife of Minister Herriot, offered to accompany the Queen to Marseilles in order to comfort her as much as possible. Soon after the train had left Lyons, Queen Marie collapsed in a fainting fit. A physician was called at once, under whose care the Queen soon recovered.

KING ALEXANDER

AT BELGRADE
(Special to the "Hong Kong Daily Press").

(By Telegraph, Copyright, Telegraphic Messages Ordinance, 1894. Received, October 10, 4.30 p.m.)

Belgrade, Oct. 10. News of the assassination of King Alexander reached here on Tuesday evening and although it was withheld in Paris, it trickled through and soon spread like wildfire through the entire city, causing consternation and much confusion since no one was quite sure as to what had happened.

Performances in the cinemas were cut short and all restaurants closed down while streets were patrolled by police detachments and all public buildings were placed under military guards.

An undercurrent of tense excitement was noticeable everywhere, chiefly due to the government's reticence in giving out authentic information. All telephone and telegraph services to foreign countries were temporarily suspended by order of the Government while the Cabinet Council met hurriedly in order to discuss the situation and make any necessary decisions.

It is understood that the late King's eldest son, Prince Peter, who is 11 years old and at present attending school in England, will be proclaimed King in the course of Wednesday while a council of Regents will be appointed to act for the King during the latter's minority.

According to Article 42 of the Yugoslavia Constitution, the Council of Regents will be composed of three members to be named by a National Assembly unless the late King took precautions and named them in his last will and testament which he is entitled to do under the constitution.

"COMPLETE ORDER"

Complete order prevails throughout the country according to an official announcement. There is no doubt that the late King enjoyed the greatest popularity, he having been universally looked upon not only as a soldier king who had distinguished himself in World War, but also as an able statesman. His policy aiming at reconciliation with Bulgaria had the hearty approval of the entire nation who also had confidently expected him to find ways and means of alleviating the tension with Italy and bring about a rapprochement.

EUROPE MOURNS

London, Oct. 9. King Alexander is mourned throughout Europe not only as a man of many parts, but as a statesman and diplomat of world importance.

Messages from the various capitals show how deeply official and private circles have been shocked by the murder of this gallant monarch.

Whatever the Italian attitude may be towards the recent developments in Yugoslavia, there is a profound feeling of horror in official circles in Rome and among the people, for the assassination at Marseilles.

The Government has telegraphed its profound condolences to the Yugoslavian Government.

—Reuter.

NATIONAL MOURNING

Paris, Oct. 9. The Government has decided upon a month of national mourning for King Alexander and a state funeral for M. Louis Barthou.

The remains of the King will be taken back to Yugoslavia aboard the cruiser Dubrovnik, the Yugoslavian warship which brought the ruler to Marseilles. It will leave with an escort of French warships. M. Doumergue, the Premier, has decided to take over provisionally the Foreign Affairs portfolio.

—Reuter.

U. S. CONDOLENCES

Washington, Oct. 9. News of King Alexander's assassination has deeply shocked the capital and has elicited expressions of sorrow from the highest officials of the White House, State Department and Diplomatic Corps.

The tragedy immediately recalls the crime at Sarajevo in 1914 which resulted in a world conflagration.

At President Roosevelt's request, Mr. Cordell Hull, Secretary of State personally visited the Yugoslavian Legation and the French Embassy to express the condolences of the President and people of the United States.

The White House reception to delegates of the Federal Aeronautical Convention has been cancelled owing to the tragedy.

—Reuter.

JAPAN'S SYMPATHY

Tokyo, Oct. 10. His Majesty the Emperor of Japan has cabled to Belgrade expressing his most profound sympathy at the untimely death of King Alexander. His Majesty has instructed Mr. Fujita, Japanese Minister to Belgrade, to convey condolences to the Yugoslavian Government, and the Emperor has also ordered court mourning.

—Reuter.

WORLD COMMENT

London, Oct. 10. The whole world greets the assassinations with mingled horror and indignation. Accompanied by the many expressions of sympathy for the bereaved Governments comes the universal question "What next?" Nearly all commentators after having generously paid tribute to the victims, declare the incident to be a severe warning to Europe, emphasizing the urgent need for the end of world disaster. The French newspapers recall that no foreign ruler has ever fallen in France before. The "New York Times" says the fact that the assassin was an exiled subject of King Alexander, eliminates the dread of resulting conflict between Yugoslavia and Italy.

—Reuter.

FRENCH PRESS

Paris, Oct. 10. The French Press in expressing horror and indignation opines the murders as being the work of one man whose political phobia is known, and there is no reason to fear international complications. "Matin" says that Barthou's plans for a rapprochement between France and Italy, and Italy plans for a rapprochement between France and Italy, are continued.

—Reuter.

ITALIAN PRESS

Rome, Oct. 10. All the newspapers deplore the assassination and pay a tribute to the personal qualities of the late King, but with only passing references to the political shadows. A similar tribute was paid to M. Barthou.

—Reuter.

LONDON COMMENT

London, Oct. 10. New complications in the tangled situation in the Balkans arising from the assassination of King Alexander is the theme of the editorials in this morning's papers which pay a tribute to the King's patriotism and efforts to achieve a better understanding in Europe. The "Times" says there are signs that King Alexander's high personal character and devotion to duty had begun to win back many Croats whom his policy had alienated while the threatening re-appearance of Germany and the threat to Austrian independence had rallied many doubters to the King's side. From a general European standpoint the murder was all the more disastrous since King Alexander had long maintained a firm directing hand in foreign policy in Yugoslavia.

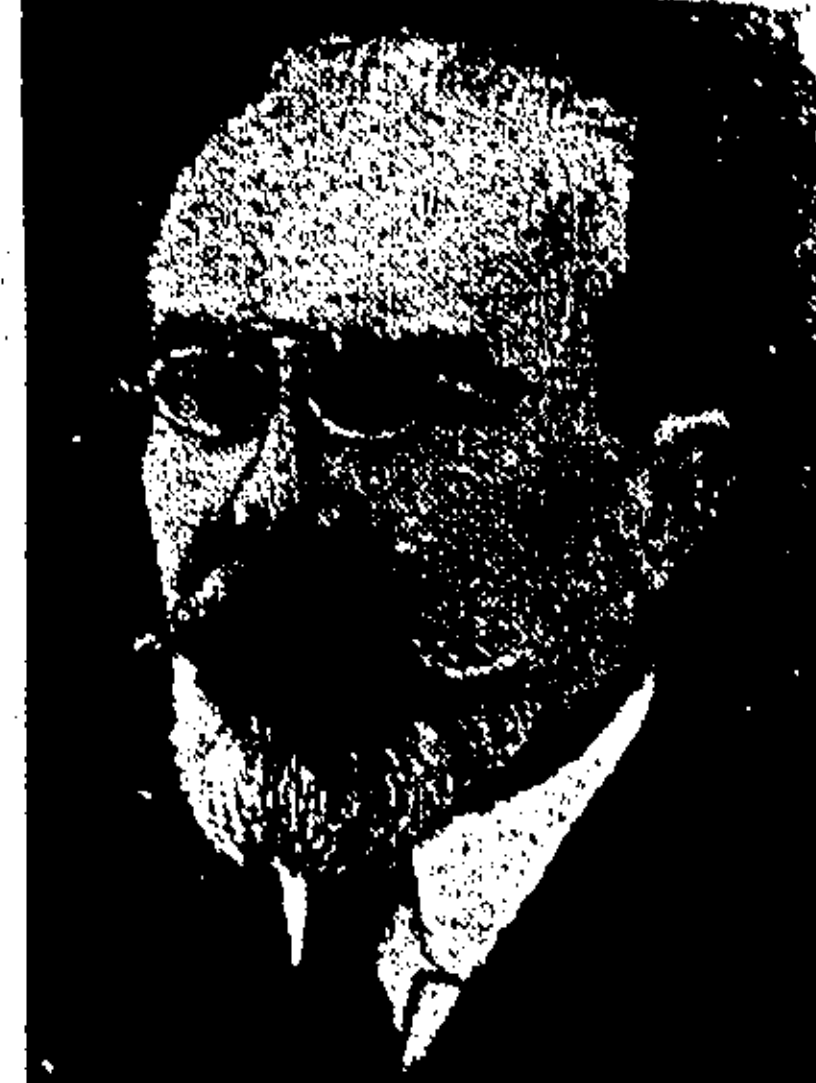

The "Daily Telegraph" declares that King Alexander's death at the beginning of important negotiations breaks hopes based on his courageous statesmanship and leadership towards a better understanding between France, Italy and Yugoslavia.

—Reuter.

AT GENEVA

Geneva, Oct. 10. It is felt here that no shots could have brought more international mischief than those which sped King Alexander's life. It is feared that the attempt to improve Italo-Yugoslav relations will now fall through, and one consoling feature in the situation is that it is stated well nigh impossible to saddle Italy with any share of responsibility for the crime.

M. LOUIS BARTHO

BELGRADE GRIEF

Belgrade, October 10. Women fainted and ex-soldiers who fought under King Alexander in three wars shook and wept on learning of the news of the King's death from the black-bordered newspapers in the morning. There are unparalleled scenes of grief throughout the country, churches, shops closed, and while the public buildings are being closely guarded.

The murderer, Keleman, is now revealed, was tried in the Court for defence of realm a few months ago for the murder of Dr. Neudorfer, the Croat minister of agriculture during the dictatorship but was acquitted though his brother was sentenced to several years' imprisonment. Keleman who was 35 years old belonged to a group of political refugees encamped in Hungary. The police state that his passport was forged in Marseilles. In the early morning, Barthou's body was borne on a bier to the Prefecture where it was laid beside that of King Alexander with French and Yugoslav generals standing guard over them.

—Reuter.

KING'S LAST WORDS

Belgrade, October 10. The accession of Prince Peter to the Throne has formally been announced, the proclamation having been published in the morning papers. The Government, Army and Navy have already taken their oath of allegiance to the young King. The King in his testament appointed a Regency Council consisting of Prince Paul, M. Stankovitch the former Minister of Education and M. Banterovitch, Governor of Zagreb. King Alexander's last words were "Guard Yugoslavia and the Government and nation must be worthy of its King."

—Reuter.

QUEEN MARIE

Lyons, October 10. Queen Marie arrived here on her journey to Marseilles, accompanied by Madame Herriot, wife of the ex-Premier. The Queen displayed magnificent courage but fainted at Besancon where a doctor was hastily summoned. In reply to the condolences of the Prefect of Lyons, the Queen said that her one desire was to accomplish the journey as quickly as possible.

—Reuter.

AT MARSEILLES

Marseilles, October 10. Queen Marie dressed in black and looking pale and grief-stricken arrived here and was greeted at the station by the Minister of Marine, military, naval and civil authorities and proceeded by motor car to the Prefecture where the King's body is lying in state. She entered the death chamber accompanied by Madame Herriot and the two Dames d'Honneur showed admirable courage and were most dignified. During the journey to Marseilles, the Queen fainted several times and had a serious breakdown in Lyons.

—Reuter.

LYING IN STATE

Marseilles, October 10. A vast and silent crowd is gazing at the windows of the Prefecture where the embalmed bodies of King Alexander and M. Barthou are lying in the grand salon which has been transformed in the Chapelle Ardente. The Queen of Yugoslavia with ladies are praying in the adjoining room. The Queen's bearing throughout was subdued and courageous. When President Lebrun, Tardieu and Herriot arrived by special train from Paris, the streets were black with people and lined by strong forces of police.

The body of M. Barthou is being sent to Paris to-day while that of King Alexander will be taken to Yugoslavia aboard the cruiser Dubrovnik.

THE BOY KING

London, October 10. The boy king was awakened at 6 a.m. by the house master and was told to dress quickly. He was then taken to the headmaster's study when the news of the tragedy was broken to him. After a hasty breakfast he motorized to London, accompanied by his tutor and a detective. Peter was pale and distraught and wore grey flannels and the school cap. He glanced nervously at the half-masted Yugoslavian flag at the entrance of the Legation where he arrived at 9 a.m.

Accompanied by Queen Marie of Roumania, the boy king left for Paris at 7 p.m. where he is meeting his mother to-morrow.

—Reuter.

THE ATTACK

London, Oct. 9. It is learned here that King Alexander and M. Barthou were riding together in a motor car when the assassin sprang at them. The King was struck by several bullets and blood streamed out of his mouth and chest. He fell back swooning.

One bullet fractured M. Barthou's left arm and the second entered his stomach.

The attack was made at 4.10 p.m. and police had the greatest difficulty in dealing with the excited crowds, who tried to lynch the assailant.

The utmost confusion prevailed. The assassin, meanwhile, had tried to shoot himself with the one shot left in his revolver. He put the weapon to his mouth, but it was snatched away.

The police threw a close guard about the man, but the crowd tore its way through, laid hands on him, fought off the police and hauled him into the Place Prefecture. There, beaten into semi-consciousness, the man was shot.

CHAUFFEUR'S HEROISM

The heroic effort of the chauffeur of the King's car was watched by hundreds. He was sitting directly in front of the King.

As the car entered the Place Bourse, a stout man broke from the crowd and sprang on the running-board of the motor. He fired four or five shots at point blank range.

The chauffeur threw himself backwards and tried to shield the King, at the same time grabbing the assailant by the throat. "I immediately seized him," he said, "while the Colonel sitting with the King struck the man with his sabre. It was no use."

TRENTBRIDGE BEATS DIANA BAY TO ESTABLISH A NEW RECORD

National Day And Jungle Jim Pay Handsome Dividends

MR. DEITZ COMES INTO HIS OWN

(BY "MORNING DEW")

The second day's racing of the Eighth Extra Meeting of the Jockey Club, proved once again to be a 'favourites' day, but there was a sufficient element of surprise to make the sport interesting—Jungle Jim and National Day being responsible for two good dividends.

In the Double Tenth Plate, Trentbridge, as predicted, won from Diana Bay and Sadko, in record time. In the Handicap race for the best griffins of this season, Soldier of Britain won easily from Gladiator, with Electric Star a disappointing third. The time was not particularly fast.

Mr. N. Deitz, the leading jockey, came into his own again riding three winners, two seconds and a third. He was never unplaced during the afternoon.

Chow Fan Wins Opening Race

In the opening race, there was a field of twelve and when the gate went up it was seen that The Bodega was left. Delightful Chance and Ironsides led with Chesterfield close up. After half a mile Delightful Chance was alone in front. Ironsides having had enough, Chesterfield now began to move up and by the time the Rock was reached had almost drawn level with the leader. Round the bend Chow Fan, The Bodega and Little Beauty began to move up and in an exciting race home Chow Fan won by a length and half from The Bodega who was the same distance ahead of Little Beauty. Delightful Chance was fourth, Chesterfield fifth.

FAVOURITE DISAPPOINTS

Carrying 1358 tickets to win out of a total of 3057, Ribble went to the post a hot favourite in the second race of the day. The pony however did not seem to run at all well in the early stages of the race, with the result that when Mr. Botelho got him going, he had to big a task in front of him. He finished fourth.

Heart's Glory, Fudge and Flying Tourist made the running, but with the exception of the last named, who finished fifth, failed to make a show after half the race was over.

DOUBLE TENTH PLATE

Trentbridge won the main race of the day from Diana Bay in record time, beating King's Bounty's time of 1:10 4/5 by a fifth of a second. Sadko finished third and King's Justice fourth. Proulx sent Diana Bay to the front, and after covering a furlong in 14.1 seconds, went on to put in a quarter of 27.3. Even this did not shake off Trentbridge who remained within a couple of lengths of the leader until the straight was reached when he ran away from Diana Bay to win by four lengths. Sadko was third, three lengths behind the Dunbar candidate. King's Justice was two lengths behind Sadko.

NATIONAL DAY

It was a strange coincidence, that National Day, who had been running indifferently hitherto, should find his form on October 10, China's National Day—and his number on the board was 10!

Boxing Eve set the pace, covering half a mile in slightly over a minute. He then faded out of the picture, to be passed by National Day, Racing Triumph and King's Parade. The latter was running strongly at the distance post, but was jammed in on the rails and his jockey had to pull him out or be content with only a place. Heard decided to come out, and considering this circumstance, the pony was fortunate to go under by only a neck to a very tired winner. Boxing Eve was third and Racing Triumph fourth.

BRECHIN TURNS UP

After winning on Saturday, Brechin was very surprisingly not made favourite for the "B" class race over a mile and a quarter, with the result that when he won he paid slightly over 3-1. The favourite was Bright View who only just managed to scramble into a place in front of High Speed. Soldier of China finished second.

Don made the pace accompanied by Pride of Tsingtao. After half a mile Soldier of China passed Don on the inside while Bright View did likewise on the outside. The two led at the Rock from which point Brechin began to creep up. At the top of the straight the three were, together with Brechin, running strongly. He went on to win the race by two lengths from Soldier of China, with Bright View a length and a half further behind.

"BRITAIN" CANTERS HOME

Soldier of Britain ran a fine race to win easily from Gladiator and Electric Star in the mile race for griffins. He made his own pace and was never pressed at all. Gladiator lay second with Electric Star and kept their positions all the way. Lemberg was outclassed, so was King's Fancy.

ST. JOAN ROMPS HOME

Proulx pulled home St. Joan in the "B" class race for Australians over a mile and a quarter. The pony was held in over the first portion of the race and only when it was five furlongs from home he was sent up, taking the lead without effort and coming home an easy winner.

Rosy Morn, Empire Day, The Giraffe and Polar Star took turns at the lead, and at one time it looked as though Empire Day was going to extend the favourite, but it was not to be. Polar Star came up with a big burst of speed and should be watched for future events.

CAVALCADE'S CLOSE SHAVE

Cavalcade won the last race by three quarters of a length from Classic Hall. The latter was beautifully handled by Mr. Heard who chose the leading position and kept there all the way, slightly in front of Cavalcade, who in a gruelling race home, just nosed out Classic Hall.

Sarabande accounted for Copper Idol in the race for third place.

Those who "spotted" National Day and Soldier of Britain for the Daily Double received $30.10 each.

WORLD SERIES BASEBALL

Cardinals Again Champions

New York, October 9.

St. Louis Cardinals won the world baseball title for the third time by defeating Detroit Tigers in the deciding game which was marked by riotous scenes. A record crowd attended the game. This is the first time that a million-dollar total in receipts for the series was reached since 1931. St. Louis scored 11 runs on 17 hits and they made one error. Detroit did not score a run, although they had six hits and made three errors.

The Cardinals scored seven runs in the third inning. Dizzy Dean pitched and shut out the opposition by the widest margin in World Series baseball history. Protesting against Joe Medwick, the St. Louis second baseman, following an incident during the sixth inning, the crowd shouted, hurled bottles, "hot-dogs," and fruit until Medwick was ordered off the field. The action of Commissioner Landis in ousting Medwick from the game is unprecedented in the history of the World Series.—

LOCAL CRICKET

E.C. Fincher Just Misses Century

The Hong Kong Cricket Club yesterday entertained the Kowloon C.C. in a friendly cricket match which resulted in a draw. The visiting team scored 218 for seven wickets while the H.K.C.C. replied with 158 for nine. A feature of the game was the sparkling batting of E.C. Fincher who missed the century by 3 runs, while F.S.W. Smith and A.E. Perry also batted well, scoring 32 and 40 respectively. For the home team, E.R. Duckitt distinguished himself both with the bat and ball, scoring 45 runs and capturing five wickets for 43.

THE GOVERNOR'S CUP

Football Association's Fine Win Yesterday

One of the finest games of soccer seen for some years was played on the Club ground yesterday afternoon when the Hong Kong Football Association defeated the Chinese Amateur Athletic Federation by 8 goals to 4, nine of the goals being scored in the first half!

The game was watched by a large crowd including His Excellency the Governor, Sir William Peel and Lady Peel, Mr. M. K. Lo and Captain E. C. Elliott-Heywood, vice-presidents of the Association and Major C. M. Manners, Chairman of the Football Council.

The feature of the game was the brilliant play of the Association half backs, especially Podmore and Elms who gave an excellent display.

The Borderers' pivot, Podmore, played the game of his life while Elms on the left flank had Cho Kwal-shing, the Chinese star right winger well covered.

A. V. Gosano and W. Ward were the brains of the forwards and the goals resulting from their efforts were excellent ones, especially Ward's opening goal which brought the spectators in the covered stands to their feet shouting and cheering.

Stanley at right half was the one weak spot in the Association's defence and was left standing time and again by the short passing methods adopted by the Chinese forwards.

The two backs Mullane and Strange played a magnificent game, but Cord in goal was very unsafe.

Bad Combination

The Chinese were a badly assorted team and hopelessly lost without the services of Li Tinsang in the second line of defence, and Wong Wing in goal, the latter's deputy being very shaky, not having the big game temperament.

Lau Mau and Cheung Chi-ying started unsteadily and it was not until the end of the second half that the former found his true form.

Leung In-chen showed none of his former brilliance and at times was inclined to kick wildly.

Tong Kwan was again very weak made a poor substitute for Li Kwok-wai.

Cho Kwal-shing was very good on the right wing but in Elms he had more than his match.

Tay Kwee-liang worked hard but is still too selfish and with several glorious openings failed badly.

Hui Yui-kwong worked hard as the leader but was again no match for Podmore who had his every movement covered. Lai Shiu-wing was undoubtedly the pick of the forwards and his two goals were masterpieces, especially the first which had Cord beaten all the way.

THE GAME

Play opened at a very fast pace and almost in the first minute Gosano was through on his own and was robbed just in time by Lau Mau.

The opening goal arrived five minutes from the whistle, Gosano working himself up to a comfortable position to give Ridley a wonderful opening with which he made no mistake.

Right from the kick-off Ward scored the best goal of the game, when he snapped up a centre by Blake to work himself past Leung Wing-chui and score with a rising drive from about 30 yards which had the Chinese custodian beaten.

Soon after an unfortunate handling by Stanley in the penalty area resulted in Tay Kwee-liang netting the first Chinese goal when the ball glanced off the right upright.

Undaunted by this reverse the Association team played with plenty of snap and a fast run through by Ward eventually saw the ball transferred to Gosano who scored with a first time effort from off the feet of Lau Mau who attempted to clear.

Soon after the spectators were given a grand thrill when "A. V." worked another of his brilliant openings to give Ward a superb opportunity with which the Saints' inside right made no mistake.

Very Fast Play

Play was very fast and the defence on both sides had plenty on their hands. Podmore and Elms were frequently in the lime-light, while Strange also shone at full-back.

A few minutes later the Association's fifth goal was scored by Matthias who rushed into the goalmouth to snap up a neat pass from Gosano to beat the keeper.

Just before the interval the Chinese bucked up considerably and some pretty passing and forward play resulted.

Lai Shiu-wing was seen in some dazzling movements, one of which resulted in the Chinese second goal when he raced Strange to score with a grounder.

St. Johnstone	v.	Ayr. U.	— 4-0 0-2

The same player scored a splendid goal when he took the ball round Podmore, Strange and Mullane to net into the left hand top corner with a rising drive.

Just before the whistle Tay Kwee-liang brought the spectators to their feet when he netted the fourth Chinese goal with a long grounder which Cord failed to get at in time, the score at the interval reading 5-4 in favour of the Association.

Play in the second half opened comparatively slower than in the first and the Association went further ahead as a result of a pretty movement by Matthias and Ward for the former to net the Association's sixth goal.

Play considerably slowed up towards the latter stages of the game when the Chinese did not seem to be trying and this resulted in two further goals from Ridley, who had little to do except tap the ball on each occasion.

The last minutes of the game saw the Association attacking strongly and the Chinese putting up a weak defence.

Captain E. Hague, R.A. refereed and lined up the following:

HKFA—Cord (Goalkeeper); Mullane (Borderers) and S. Strange (Club); Stanley (Navy), Podmore (Borderers) and P. J. Elms (St. Joseph's); Matthias (Borderers) (Borderers); Ward (St. Joseph's); A. V. Gosano (Recreio); Ridley (Lincolns) and Blake (University).

C.A.A.F.—Lee Chuen; Lau Mau and Cheung Chi-ying; Leung In-chen; Leung Wing-chui and Tong Kwan; Cho Kwal-shing; Tay Kwee-liang; Hui Yui-kwong; Lai Shiu-wing and Li Shek-yau.

OIL FIELDS

Near Tang Shan

Tientsin, Oct. 3.

Oil fields have been discovered near Tangshan by Mr. Liu Tai-Tung, a prominent resident of the mining city according to information received here to-day.

After making the discovery Mr. Liu was stated to have made arrangements for the organization of an oil concern to refine the crude oil into gasoline. Preparations for the establishment of the company, which will be named the Ke Lee Petroleum Company, will be completed next Spring.

The annual consumption of gasoline in Tangshan, which is chiefly supplied by the Asiatic Petroleum Company and the To Hu Company (Agent of Soviet oil), amounts to several hundred thousand dollars, and the hope is expressed by Mr. Liu that, with the founding of the Chinese concern, China need not depend entirely upon foreign firms for gasoline supply.

In the meantime, according to Mr. Liu, experiments will be conducted on the making of synthetic oil.

KOWLOON GOLF

Playing at the Kowloon Golf Club over the week-end, S. MacNider, with a score of 88-9-71 and R. Henderson 85-43-72 qualified for the Captain's Cup Competition.

NEWS AND COMMENTS FROM THE NORTH

Autumn Spectacle of Hanchow Bore

(From Our Own Correspondent)

The autumnal rains have descended again and for a whole week the leaden-coloured clouds have been unloading their watery burden almost without intermission on Shanghai. Fortunately for sight-seers, however, the season's neap tides, which show the magnificent spectacle of the Hanchow Bore at its best, came before the break in the recent long spell of fine weather; and Haining, the picturesque village on the Shanghai-Hanchow highway, where the rushing wall of water is seen at its maximum height, had the usual large throngs of visitors.

The Bore, described by travellers as one of the most spectacular in the world, is a tidal phenomenon caused by the funnel shape of Hanchow Bay, which is 70 miles wide at the entrance, and narrows down to only 9 miles at Kanqu, 70 miles inland. As the Bay narrows and grows shallower the incoming tide is forced by the contour of the land to rise rapidly, until it attains spectacular dimensions, sometimes 20 to 30 feet in height. The favourite showplace is at Tung Men, Tang in Haining where the crest breaks and the swell rushes up the river as a bore. There the roar of the swell can be heard almost three-quarters of an hour before the crest passes, and one can obtain a full view of the incoming waters from the extreme distance till they rush past up the river. The best times for seeing the Bore is during the spring and autumn, when the tides reach their greatest height.

City Government Vetoes Trotting Races

Shanghai residents with a weakness for easy means of making money—and incidentally, also of losing hard-earned salaries—will have to be content with the Hal Alai, dog-racing and such other similar institutions as exist at the moment, that is, if the other two municipal authorities will follow the lead taken by the Chinese City Fathers against further extensions of gambling.

The Shanghai Trotting Club, which about nine months ago announced its intention to start trotting-races in Shanghai, last month imported 33 Australian horses with complete equipment for trotting races, but when the sponsors applied to the City Government for permission to use the Ying Ziang Hsiang racecourse of the Chinese Jockey Club, which is situated in Chinese territory, they received a firm and definite refusal. The application, of course, was with a view to providing Shanghai residents seeking an evening of excitement with a pari-mutuel betting on the races. Large and influential Chinese bodies have lately raised their voices against the gambling evil, not so much because it exists, as that it threatens to be growing at a dangerous rate. Specific condemnation of the institutions in the French Concession have on a number of occasions been expressed in the Press, and the latest proposed addition to Shanghai's amenities in the way of entertainment has raised considerable opposition against the pari-mutuel as a form of organized gambling. Hence there will be no trotting races to lure "habitués" of the Casino and Auditorium from their evening devotions, unless the French or International Settlement Authorities see the subject from a different angle from that of the Chinese City Government.

Manchuria To-day

The address of Mr. Qiu Tai-Chi to the League Assembly on September 14, regarding the activities of Chinese patriots in the illegal Chinese territories in the North East—where frequent attacks on troops trains, burning of the puppet "Emperors" palace in Changchun and destruction by fire of the huge Japanese aerodrome just outside the same city in April, entailing a loss of many million yen—are merely "in line with the fine tradition of patriots that never conceived themselves hopeless"—leads point to a recent news message from the North brought by a new arrival from Manchuria.

According to him 44 Chinese volunteer leaders headed by Li Tung-hai, met their death on August 30, at the hands of a Japanese air-raid squad in Harbin, for alleged train-wrecking activities. After they were arrested near Tsitsihar, capital of Heilungkiang, they frankly confessed that they and other groups had been responsible for the majority of recent wreckings, and that they were fighting for liberation of the territory from the invaders. After undergoing unspeakable tortures and brutal whipping by their captors they were sent to their deaths, still maintaining a spirit of proud defiance. Their last words, before the fatal volley rang out, were addressed to their executioners to the effect that what befell them that day would be the latter's fate on the morrow. The thousands of Chinese spectators present were reported to have been greatly moved by this instance of patriotism and courage.

Cock-of-the-Walk Attitude

News from Manchuria often takes a long time to reach the outside world, if it ever does so at all. The argus-eyed Japanese censorship, however, did not prevent an item of news, concerning Prince Chichibu's goodwill mission to "Manchukuo" in June, including certain interesting details thereof, from appearing in the "New York Times."

The mission of the Mikado's brother was ostensibly one of good will, to create good feelings between the "Manchus" and Japanese and to invest the so-called "new state" with a sense of its own international importance and independent status. However, while the intentions were undoubtedly very thoughtful and diplomatic, the execution was completely otherwise, resulting in the mission being even worse than a mere failure. For the Japanese have made no pretence to hide their contempt for the young Manchus whom they had elevated to the "dignity" of a puppet "emperor."

The "Emperor" Kang-Teh was made to meet the Japanese prince—a person of lower rank—at the railway station much to the chagrin and discomfiture of the high "Manchukuo" officials. As to the population in general, sullen enmity rather than appreciation of the honour was aroused, because the Japanese precautions for the safety of the prince, and the practice welcomes, militarist displays and the like were carried out with the utmost thoroughness, necessitating the closing of shops and the complete stoppage of traffic for days in the busiest thoroughfares. Cuffs and kicks were merely the lightest form among other punishments for those who thought to go about their usual business.

Numerous consular protests reveal that Chinese were not the only sufferers from Japanese arrogance. In order to carry out their strict regulations and precautions, foreigners were also imposed upon. Japanese police forced themselves into private American and European homes and remained there for hours, making free with cigarettes and the like—in one case even requesting the wife of an American to dance with them. Chinese were, of course, the worst sufferers, for grocery stores were entered and tobacco, candy and foodstuffs simply appropriated. A few more of similar goodwill missions, and a serious uprising from the so-called "Manchus" will be the natural result!

Plane Returns From Peiping

The mammoth Junkers "plane," which arrived in Shanghai on September 8, to shatter all existing Europe-Orient air speed records by its six-day flight from Berlin, took off again on Tuesday morning, September 12 for Peiping, with your correspondent as one of the passengers. The distance of 1100 kilometres, as the crow flies, was covered in 4 hours, and 20 minutes, and the automatic control, which is one of the features of the nine-ton machine, was demonstrated when the pilot left his place for 10 minutes to converse with the passengers. Calls were also made at Tientsin and Tsingtao, and a remarkably smooth and easy landing made on a very small field in the latter city.

The return trip was made via Tientsin, Tsingtao and Nanking, the Nanking-Shanghai section was covered under the worst weather conditions ever encountered since the plane left Berlin, and for

IRON BRIDGE

Across The Yangtze

Nanking, Oct. 3.

Plans for the construction of an iron bridge across the Yangtze River between Hankow and Wuchang, in order to facilitate through traffic between the Canton-Hankow and Peiping-Hankow Railways, are being worked out under the direction of Mr. Hsia Kwang Yu, Counsellor of the Ministry of Railways, it is learnt.

The plans, upon completion, will be submitted to a conference for the three sections—Canton-Shiuchow, Shiuchow-Chuchow and Changsha-Hankow—of the Canton-Shiuchow, Shiuchow-Chuchow and Changsha-Hankow—of the Canton-Hankow Railway.—Kuo Min

THE LUNG-HAI RAILWAY

Extension Planned

Nanking, Oct. 1.

Construction work on the eastern extension of the Lung-Hai Railway between Sinpu and Lao-yao in North-eastern Kiangsu has been completed, it is learnt at the Ministry of Railways.

Engineering operations on the road-beds, bridges and tunnels along the Talerchwang-Chaow-chang branch of the line, in northern Kiangsu, are also nearing completion. A distance of 21 kilometers has already been laid with rails.—Kuo Min

NEW RADIO STATION

Nanking, Oct. 3.

Construction of the new international radio station at Loyang, North-western Honan, has been completed, according to a message received here. The Ministry of Communications is despatching a delegate to Loyang to examine the installation work.—Kuo Min

HELPING TRADE

Nanking, Oct. 5.

In order to develop native industries, the Kiangsi Provincial Industrial Experimental Institute has decided to establish four factories for the manufacture of paper, leather, dyes and soap. Plans for the project, together with estimates have been submitted to the Provincial Government for approval.—Kuo Min

ARCHIVES BUREAU

Nanking, Sept. 20.

An Office for Readjustment of Government Archives will shortly be established by the Executive Yuan. This organ is designed to pave the way for the establishment of a National Archives Bureau, which will deal with the official records of the various Ministries, Committees and Commissions under the Executive Yuan.

The regulations governing the organization of the new Office provide that the head of the Preparatory Office for the Institute for Improvement of Administrative Efficiency shall be concurrently Director of the Office for Readjustment of Government Archives. The Vice-Director will be an expert in Archives administration.—Kuo Min more than a quarter of the way there was blind flying. The flight was nevertheless extremely smooth, so much so that your correspondent felt absolutely no sense of insecurity, even during the height of the storm, and fell asleep. The time taken for the journey between the Capital and this city was 56 minutes less than that of the C.N.A.C. plane, whose scheduled time is 2 hours and 15 minutes. The speed of the machine thus demonstrated has shown it specially valuable for the one-day Peiping-Canton run that has been planned, and in all probability the service between the ancient Capital and the City of Rains will be in actuality half the many months.

CEYLON CHEERS

Duke Of Gloucester

(Special Air Mail Service)

London, Sept. 22.
No more enthusiastic welcome over greeted royalty in Ceylon than that which awaited the Duke of Gloucester on his arrival at Colombo yesterday for a four-day visit on his way to Australia.
The crowds thronging the approaches to the port were unprecedented in size (says Reuters), and as the Duke drove in state to Government Lodge by the side of the Governor the streets, hung with flags, were densely packed by a cheering, gaily-dressed throng, who showed themselves usually demonstrative for an Oriental people.
The crush in the first part of the route was so great that the police and troops lining it were powerless to prevent encroachment on the road leaving the Duke's car barely room to pass.
At one point the crowd burst through the cordon, and men and women were hurled to the ground

INDIA RESERVE BANK

Sir Osborne Smith To Be First Governor

(Special Air Mail Service)

London, Sept. 22.
It is announced by the India Office that Sir Osborne Smith has, with the consent of the board of the Imperial Bank of India, accepted the invitation of the Governor-General in Council to become the first Governor of the Reserve Bank of India.

Sir Osborne, who is 57, and was educated in Australia, is one of the big figures in Indian banking. He has been for some years managing Governor of the Imperial Bank of India, and it has been an open secret in late months that his appointment as Governor of the Reserve Bank had been decided on. Prior to joining the Imperial Bank he was London manager of the Commonwealth Bank of India.

The setting up of an Indian Reserve Bank free from political influence was recommended by the Federal sub-committee of the first session of the India Round-Table Conference. Sir Osborne has already spent some weeks at Simla discussing details for the establishment of the Reserve Bank.

In front of the Duke's car, which had to pull up to avoid running over them.

After the Duke had paid his visit to Government Lodge he returned to H.M.S. Sussex, in which he is travelling to Australia.

GERMAN SHARE MARKET

[Special to the "Hong Kong Daily Press" (Copyright.)]

Berlin, Oct. 9.

The buoyant air that characterized the bourse in the last few days was succeeded, by calm on Tuesday, fixed interest securities being far less demanded by investors while operators were profit-taking. Nevertheless, fixed interest securities were very firm, some gold and mortgage bonds even rising.

Metallurgical shares and dyestuffs were in brisk demand. Call Money 4 to 4 1/4, Young Loan declined 1/4 to 93 1/2, Reichsbank rose 1/4 to 147, Dreyfus improved 1/4 to 142 1/2, Salzkottb. Potash unchanged at 154, German Steel Trusts weakened 1/4 to 43, German Mineral Oils jumped 1/4 to 110 1/2, Siemenshalske weakened 1/4 to 143 1/2, Bemberg Rayon 1/4 firmer at 112—Transocean Kuo Min.

REICHSBANK RETURN

[Special to the "Hong Kong Daily Press" (Copyright.)]

Berlin, Oct. 9.

The Reichsbank return for October 6 published on Tuesday shows a substantial improvement in status, the tension resulting from the coincidence of the quarterly settlements at the end of September has now relaxed through reflux of liquid money. Goldstock increased 3.6 million Reichsmarks mainly from Soviet Russia to 78.6 millions while foreign currencies returned the same as before 3.9 so that the total cover has risen by 3.6 millions to 82.5 million Reichsmarks as against 78.9 on September 29 and 78.9 on September 23.

Note circulation declined by 146.2 millions to 377.6 millions. The amount of credit issued as measured by bills, cheques, investments and advances declined by 220.2 millions to 480.9 million Reichsmarks—Transocean Kuo Min.

Nothing that might help to make an ocean voyage most pleasant has been overlooked on the President Liners. For your comfort, every stateroom is outside, large and airy. And for your recreation, you'll find spacious public rooms, broad decks for sports... and an outdoor swimming pool. Anyone who has ever traveled on a President Liner will agree: Dull moments aren't found on these popular ships.
